Army Search Team Goes After Yanks Who May Be Slaves

Detachment Will Make Headquarters at Remote Mission; Probably Will Ask Ransom

Chongtu, China, Sept. 26 (AP)—

A U. S. Army search team plunged deeper into China's wild and mountainous far west today seeking long-lost American airmen feared captives of the fierce slaveholding Lolos.

On the second day of their mission into the land of cloud-capped mountains, half-savage, Mongolian-featured warriors, and Pandas, the soldiers were believed to be from five to 11 days march from their goal.

The goal is the valley of Chir-kiang, which carves its course from headwaters in the world's highest mountains in Tibet.

Missionaries have reported at least eight enslaved whites were seen grinding corn or tending flocks in that region, where few white men save the missionaries have ever ventured.

Col. Herbert W. Wurtzler and his detachment expected to set up headquarters at a remote Catholic Mission and try to learn there if the white captives are U. S. airmen downed two and more years ago on the perilous flight from the Japanese from India to China.

His party flew down to Sichang, about 300 miles southwest of Chongtu. The mission is an estimated four days march west of Sichang. The region where the white men were seen is from two to eight days march farther westward.

Wurtzler hoped to talk with those who saw the white men. Then he will try to locate the captives through friendly Lolo chiefs.

May Ask Ransom

Dr. David Crockett Graham of West China University, who entered the Lolo country 20 years ago, said here that the Lolos probably would demand blankets and salt for ransom because their economy was based on the practice of slavery.

Wurtzler was accompanied by a French priest, who knows the fringes of Lololand. So primitive are communications that no developments were expected to be reported here inside of two weeks.

Reports reaching here said that an intertribal war was in progress somewhere ahead of Wurtzler's party, and this might further delay negotiations for the release of any airmen found.

One official source asserted search teams had entered the fringe of Lololand before and were told by the tribesmen that they would have to ransom any prisoners they were looking for.

(In Buffalo, N. Y., James M. Pellegrine told an interviewer he had flown into the country last September as a technical engineer to repair a forced-down Chinese plane and had been attacked by Lolos who had small arms "stolen from captured, and usually murdered airmen.")

Wurtzler's party was proceeding carefully, and planned to send missionaries ahead to advise the Lolos of their friendly intentions before pushing on into tribal territory.

Gunnison Reported Killed

New York, Sept. 26 (AP)—The Mutual Broadcasting System said today it was advised that Royal Arch Gunnison, one of its veteran war correspondents, was killed yesterday in the crash of a Royal Air Force Dakota transport in Hong Kong. Eighteen other persons lost their lives in the accident. Gunnison was a correspondent for the Mutual Broadcasting System and Overseas News Agency. His wife, Marjorie, a resident of New York City, now is visiting in Boston. Mutual said Gunnison wrote a book, "So Sorry, No Peace," which was published in 1944.

Republican Candidate for U. S. Senator Says President Truman's Statement Furnished Sorry Evidence of Ineptness

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 26 (AP)—Irving M. Ives, Republican candidate for U. S. Senator, charged today President Truman's administration was "fumbling into the future" and called for an immediate lifting of wartime controls.

"We must free ourselves now from the ever-growing governmental dictation which is throttling the drive and power of America's post-war greatness," the Assembly Majority Leader declared.

"Unless the tide is turned soon," he said in an address prepared for delivery at a biennial meeting of the State Legislative Board of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers, "the emergency which President Truman's vacillation has created will bring industry to a shuddering stop."

Ives said that continuation of wartime controls had caused production "to falter and unemployment again to increase."

With the war over more than a year, the Truman administration is still "fumbling its way into the future," Ives said.

"If anything were needed to prove its bewilderment and ineptness, the statement of President Truman two days ago furnished sorry evidence."

Ives quoted Truman as having said the nation was in as great an emergency as it was when the Japanese attacked Pearl Harbor and that the emergency would continue until peace and production were achieved.

"There is no present emergency in this nation which could not have been avoided by intelligent and forward-looking leadership," Ives maintained. "There is no emergency which has not been created by the fatal blunders of the President's own economists, distrustful of the American people themselves."

Ives said that when postwar emergency was lifted, production would be restored.

J. K. Lencke Dies At Home Today

Was Prominent Kingston Industrialist Since 1919; Age 81

John K. Lencke, for years one of the leading industrialists in Kingston, died this morning in his home, 25 Presidents Place following a brief illness. If Mr. Lencke had lived until October 1, he would have been 82 years old.

Mr. Lencke, long active in the industrial life of the city, came here in 1919, when he took over the old auto plant on Grand street, and established the Apollo Magneto Corp., which continued to operate until December, 1940, when Mr. Lencke sold the business to Electro Incorporated.

In addition to his activities as head of the Apollo concern, Mr. Lencke was interested in real estate and was president of the Jellico Realty, Inc. of this city.

Murder Charge to Be Filed Against High School Student

Bryan, O., Sept. 26 (AP)—Sheriff Norman A. Barnes said he would file a murder charge today against a Bryan youth who confessed "an urge to kill" led him to choke and stab to death Emily Abernathy, 30, city librarian, in the library basement here last Thursday.

Barnes reported that the youth, James Robert Engle, 21, a former Bryan High School student and son of an auto supply store manager, signed a confession last night that he "just wanted to kill" the attractive blonde librarian to satisfy "an urge to kill" he first got in England as a U. S. sailor.

Miss Abernathy's body was found lying between blood-spattered book shelves, punctured with 23 stab wounds. She was not raped.

Engle gave Charles G. Stahl, Williams county prosecutor, a large-bladed penknife during the confession and identified it as the weapon used, Stahl reported. It stabbed her 23 times or

Plenary Session Held at Peace Conference to Consider Council Proposal

Principle Agreed

Delegates Favor Order Demanding Bulgars Demobilize

Paris, Sept. 26 (AP)—A plenary session of the peace conference was called tonight to consider proposals of the four-power Foreign Ministers Council to speed the work of the delegates.

The secretariat general called the session on a notice of less than five hours, apparently because of a deadlock over the proposed agenda for approving the treaty draft with Finland, first of the five European peace treaty drafts to be completed after two months of conference.

The original agenda of the 21-nation secretariat called for a plenary session tomorrow to discuss approval of the Finnish treaty text, but the American, Russian, British and French members were reported to have pressed for convening plenary session as soon as possible.

The Foreign Ministers Council program to speed the conference has been drafted for presentation by the Foreign Ministers' deputies, an informed source said. The major point in this program would be a time limit on speeches in commissions to enable the conference to meet an October 15 deadline for completing its deliberations.

In the Military Commission, meanwhile, the delegates decided to order Bulgaria to disband her armed forces with the exception of a "land army" including frontier troops in a total strength of 55,000 men. The Commission adopted Articles 10 and 11 of the Bulgarian treaty ordering the former satellite's armed forces disbanded within six months from the date the treaty becomes effective. Bulgaria will be forbidden to train any personnel not included in the army of 55,000, a navy of 3,500 and an air force of 3,200 men.

Agreed on Principle

In the Italian Economic Commission delegates agreed on a principle of 75 per cent refund on war damage done to property owned by nationals of the United Nations, but the British reserved the right to continue to urge 100 per cent payment.

Other commissions now are in the final stages of their work, but the ticklish problem of Trieste still confronts the conferees. The Commission studying Trieste still was stalled, it has been reported, on questions of boundary lines and gubernatorial powers.

The Military Commission unanimously adopted a clause in the Bulgarian treaty prohibiting Bulgaria from experimenting with atomic energy. Guided missiles and self-propelled projectiles were included in the prohibitions.

The Italian Political and Territorial Commission adopted Articles 21 through 26 of the Italian treaty, dealing with establishment of peacetime relations with Albania. Article 21 was carried by a single vote, 10 to 9, with one abstention. The article states that "Italy recognizes and undertakes to respect the sovereignty and independence of the state of Albania."

The Slav states insisted the amendment be reworded to recognize Albania as "an Allied and associated power." France abstained. Greece reserved the right to press her claims to northern Epirus and the island of Saceria.

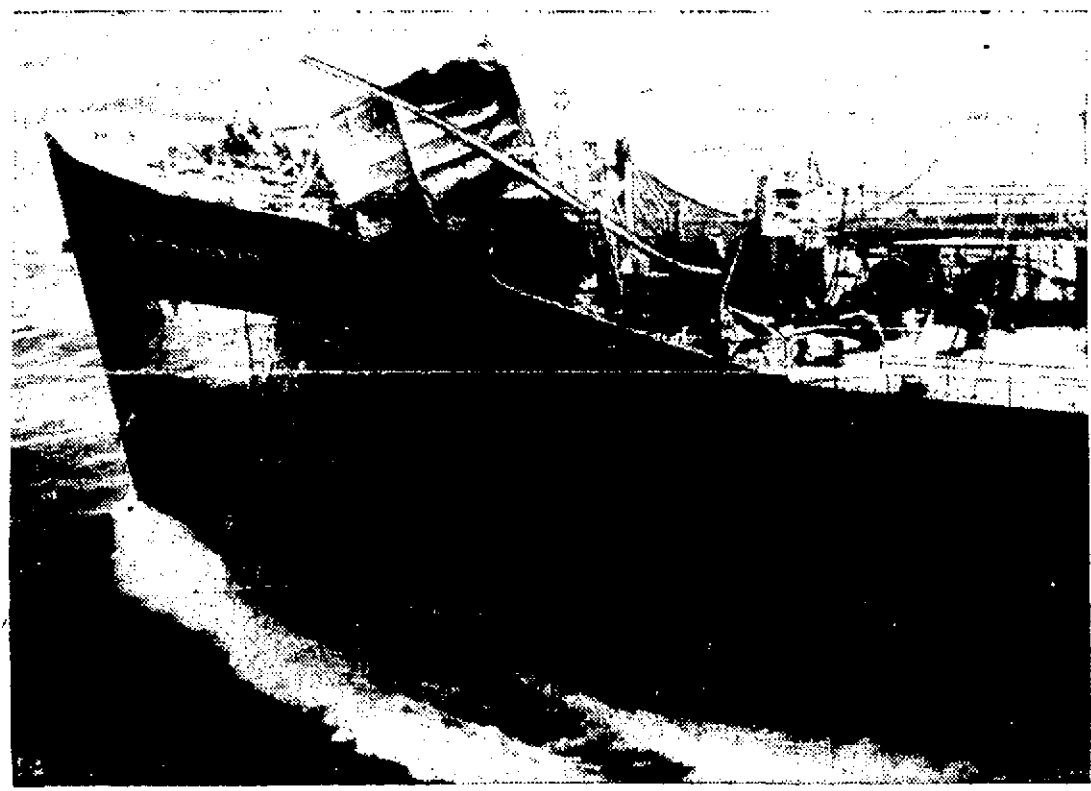

The Italian ambassador to the United States, Alberto Taichiani, asked the Commission to recognize improvements made in Albania and Ethiopia during the Italian occupation periods, in such matters as roads, schools and community projects.

Wreck Is Reported

Los Angeles, Sept. 26 (AP)—The Transcontinental Limited train of the Union Pacific Railroad left the rails three miles east of Victorville, Calif., this morning. First reports said four persons were dead.

Union Pacific officials here said they had learned only that the engine and three cars—presumably baggage or mail cars—were in the ditch. They had no reports of any dead.

Ship Operators Refuse to Attend

Schwollenbach Invitation to Meeting Refused by Operators

(By The Associated Press)

Pacific coast ship operators have declined an invitation from Secretary of Labor Lewis B. Schwollenbach to attend a maritime labor peace conference tomorrow in Washington designed to head off a nation-wide strike by ship engineers.

The new strike threat to the nation's still-groovy waterfront comes this time from the C.I.O. Marine Engineers Beneficial Association, whose 15,000 members man the engine rooms of virtually all the ships in the American Merchant Marine.

Their leaders now are counting a nation-wide strike authorization vote, with first returns showing heavy sentiment in favor of a walkout next Monday unless ship operators grant the men a 35 per cent wage boost.

Union leaders already have agreed to meeting with representatives of the shipping companies on the Atlantic and Gulf coasts in Schwollenbach's offices.

But the Pacific-American ship-owners Association last night announced they would prefer to iron out maritime difficulties with meetings on the west coast.

The association's announcement came before it signed an agreement with A.F.L. Sailors Union of the Pacific placing government-approved wage increases into effect.

Strike Is Voted

New York port members of the Marine Engineers voted 1,064 to 125 yesterday to strike after expiration of contracts with ship operators September 30. In Houston, Tex., members voted 353 to 14 to strike, while in Norfolk, Va., they voted by an 8 to 1 count in favor of the strike.

Final results of the strike ballot will be announced in the nation's capital tomorrow.

Lawrence Kammet, public relations director for the Marine Engineers, said Schwollenbach acted in requesting the meeting "in an effort to avert another tieup which would in the secretary's words 'seriously affect the economic life of the nation.'"

The C.I.O. engineers did not benefit from wage raises won by both A.F.L. and C.I.O. seamen in the recent maritime strike which ended after a crippling 15-day shutdown of American seaports.

Besides the boost in base pay, the engineers are asking $2-an-hour overtime pay, and a closed shop. The union said operators had conferred with an offer of a 10 per cent raise and $1.50 an hour overtime but the proposal was described as "inadequate."

The present scale for engineers ranges from $218 a month for fourth assistant engineers to $601 a month for chief engineers on a Class A passenger vessel. Actual pay rates depend on the size, speed and type of vessel.

Agent Says Walkout Is For Safety

Other Strikes Might Come for Sympathy Reasons; Doesn't Tell Source

Struck Power Used

Labor Leaders Come to Aid of Strikers in Fight

Pittsburgh, Sept. 26 (AP)—A walkout by street car operators started today in this strike-hardened steel capital, already in the grip of a power strike now in its third day.

Other strikes were threatening in apparent sympathy with the walkout by the power workers union.

The strike on the street car system of the Pittsburgh Railways Company, main method of public transportation in the city, was called suddenly at 4 a. m., and left thousands of early morning riders without transportation. One company announced all cars had been withdrawn from service.

Business Agent John T. Morgan of the A.F.L. Amalgamated Association of Street, Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employees said the walkout of 3,000 trolley operators and service workers was a "protective measure" against threats of violence to men and equipment made by telephone and in person.

He declined to disclose the source of the threats. He said no extra protection would be asked to resume work but that he was hopeful that the situation would be worked out satisfactorily during the day.

The alleged threats were reported to have stemmed from the trolley's use of "struck power" supplied by the Duquesne Light Company.

Both the Pittsburgh Railways Company and the Duquesne Light Co., whose production of electrical energy to an 817 square mile area has been reduced to 40 per cent by the power strike, are subsidiaries of a Philadelphia company.

National and city labor leaders were rallying to the support of the power workers in their fight against an anti-strike injunction handed down by the Allegheny Common Pleas Court. Leaders of C.I.O. and A.F.L. organizations in Pittsburgh with approximately 375,000 members called special protest meetings.

Normally the railway company serves about 1,600,000 riders daily with 930 cars. However, since the start of the power strike the number of cars has been reduced to 225 as a measure to conserve electricity.

Meanwhile the strike of the 3,500 power workers hit an impasse.

More than 2,100 union members voted better than four to one against considering any company offer to end the three-day old strike until the injunction is lifted.

The strike had made more than 36,500 idle—3,500 workers of the struck Duquesne Light Co., 8,000 sympathy strikers at the Jones and Laughlin Steel Corp. and the Westinghouse Electric Corp., and over 25,000 others in scattered mills, mines, offices and shops.

In a dramatic development, Union President George L. Mueller, who on Tuesday had been given a year in jail for contempt of court, came before a three-man panel of the Allegheny county court, apologized for having called the court's temporary anti-strike injunction "just a scrap of paper," and was given his freedom for a few hours to attend a meeting of the union.

Mueller Gives Promise

Mueller promised the court he would ask the 2,000 members of the Independent Association of Employees of the Duquesne Light Company to accept a new company offer, end their strike and return to work. The new offer, the company said, included a five per cent pay raise, which would have increased the average base pay from $1.18 to $1.23 an hour. The union demands 20 percent.

The secret meeting of the union was held in Carnegie Hall, and Mueller attended, in custody of the union's attorney, Herman Lipsitz. Present also were the other nine members of the union's "strike committee." They, like Mueller, had promised the court they would ask the strikers to return to work.

Y.W.C.A. to Buy Hasbrouck House On Clinton Avenue

Purchase of Mechanics Building for $40,000 Is Opposed by Officials

At a meeting of the trustees and Board of Directors of the Kingston Y.W.C.A. held last evening the board of directors of the Y.W.C.A. authorized the trustees to enter into negotiations to purchase the residence property of the late Justice G. D. B. Hasbrouck at the corner of Clinton avenue and Maiden Lane as a future home for the Y.W.C.A.

This action was taken after the officers of the Y.W.C.A. had been notified by officers of the Junior Order United American Mechanics, owners of the building on Henry street which for the past twenty-three years has housed the Y.W.C.A., that the building was to be sold. The officers of the Mechanics, after deciding to dispose of their building about a week ago, offered the building to the Y.W.C.A. for the sum of $40,000. Since this sum was in excess of the amount which the Y.W.C.A. officers felt they could invest in a building of the offer of the Mechanics was declined.

Immediate steps were then taken to find a suitable location and after considerable study the Hasbrouck property was found to be available and last evening at a joint meeting of the trustees with the Board of Directors, the trustees were authorized to buy the Hasbrouck property.

For several years the Y.W.C.A. has set aside money in a building fund for the purchase of a suitable property. To this sum has been added a very considerable amount through generous donations of Y.W. and the younger business and professional groups have worked for several years past toward the raising of funds for the ultimate purchase of a new building.

United Nations Scientists Are Ready for Showdown

Lake Success, N. Y., Sept. 26 (AP)—Scientists of the United Nations atomic energy commission were ready for a showdown vote today on their report on atomic energy controls, with Soviet Russia holding the key to a unanimous vote.

The scientific and technical committee of the commission, made up of scientists from each of the 12 nations on the commission, was summoned to meet in secret session at the United Nations headquarters at 3 p. m. E.D.T.

Members of the committee were represented as agreed that some final action must be taken on the report, which was adopted after 18 meetings, mostly in August, and which has been awaiting the formal approval of Soviet Russia for about three weeks.

Meanwhile, the U. N. Security Council, resting after strenuous battles over memberships, the Ukrainian-Greek case and the Russian demand for information on troop dispositions, turned to the comparatively simple matter of its report to the general assembly, which meets in New York city on October 23. The council scheduled a closed meeting for 10:30 a. m. E.D.T., in United Nations offices in downtown Manhattan.

Prof. S. P. Alexandrov, the Russian scientist on the committee, who came here from the Bikini atomic bomb tests, was reported to have agreed to the scientific committee's report as an individual. But he was said to have informed the committee that he must obtain official approval from Moscow before Russia would be committed to the report—and that official approval so far has not been communicated to the committee.

An informed source said that the report, which contains no recommendations, would come out of the committee regardless of Russia's stand. The report was said to deal with broad measures of control needed to harness effectively atomic energy. It was reported as making no attempt to resolve the differences between the United States and Russian plans for atomic energy control.

Y.W.C.A. to Buy Hasbrouck House On Clinton Avenue

purchase of their own building and the purchase of the Hasbrouck property is the culmination of that ambition.

Premises Are Adequate

The Clinton avenue premises are well suited for use to which it will be put with its large rooms and numerous smaller rooms which may be used for meeting rooms for the various groups which number several clubs, ranging from the Girls Club, which takes in girls from the seventh grade through high school, through the Business and Professional Girls' group, the Junior Married Group and the Women's Club.

Last year there was considerable work done toward the organization and development of the Industrial Girls' Club and with the added facilities available in the new home this work can now be developed more rapidly. In addition to the various clubs there are also conducted numerous classes, including very active classes in sketching, metal-craft, twirling, swimming and other activities. For some time the Saturday night "teen age" dance classes have been very popular and they will be continued.

It is planned to move to the new location without any interruption in the activities of the Y.W.C.A., and as soon as possible to increase the activities of the various groups.

"For some time it has been our ambition to own our own home," said Mrs. Frederic W. Holcomb, chairman of finances, "and at long last we have accomplished that aim."

In addition to the activities which are carried out at the Y.W.C.A. building there is also a camp program which is one of the important summer activities of the Y.W.C.A. At "Triangle Acres" at Fish Creek during the past summer 65 youngsters have enjoyed summer camping. This season there were two three week periods when during the six weeks local youngsters enjoyed the benefits of outdoor camping activities. The past year the varied programs at the Y.W.C.A. and the activities of the clubs have been available to 11,000 individuals who used the building and its facilities, this number is exclusive of the "teen age" group which attended the Saturday night dance classes. Officers of the Y.W.C.A. feel that with the increased facilities which will be available in the new location, the benefits of the Y.W.C.A. may be enjoyed by an even greater number of girls and young women.

The Hasbrouck premises consist of a large frame dwelling with several large rooms on the lower floor which may be used for group meetings and numerous smaller rooms which will be available for smaller club meetings. The lot is 138 by 104 feet in size and provides ample space for any future expansion program which may be required. The present plan is to make use of the building with but slight alterations and to use the large lot for possible development of a tennis court, badminton courts etc. With several club rooms available the new location will offer facilities for group meetings which never before could be taken advantage of and it is planned to expand this program of activities.

At a meeting of the trustees held Tuesday evening, the proposition was discussed. The offer to purchase the present building on Henry street was considered and it was finally agreed that it would be impossible to assume that responsibility. At the joint meeting held last evening the proposal was again considered and after discussion the Board of Directors of the Y.W.C.A. authorized the trustees to enter into a contract to acquire the Hasbrouck premises.

The trustees of the Y.W.C.A. are Clarence L. Dunn, principal of the high school, who is chairman, Howard R. St. John, Ernest LeFevre, Victor Roth, Mrs. John Matthews, the Rev. F. B. Seeley and the Rev. William J. McVey. The Board of Directors of the Y.W.C.A. is: Mrs. Herbert C. Fisher, president; Mrs. Clifford Rose, vice-president; Mrs. Frederic W. Holcomb, chairman of finance; Mrs. Ward Brigham, Mrs. Charles Terwilliger, Mrs. George Simpkins, Miss Alberta Davis, Mrs. Daniel Van Wagenen, Miss Elma E. Smith, Miss Mary Staples, Mrs. A. W. Mollott, Mrs. Harry Halverson, Mrs. W. J. McVey, Mrs. E. Rich, Mrs. John Herlihy, Mrs. F. P. Salisbury, Miss Frances Osterhoudt, Miss Elise Fielder, Mrs. John Conner, Mrs. Arthur Laidlaw, Mrs. F. O. Merritt, Mrs. Thomas Reynolds and Miss Ethel Hull.

The Y.W.C.A. for 23 years has rented from the Jr. O.U.A.M., their present quarters in the building on Henry street. The Henry street building in years past was used as a telephone exchange and business office by the former Citizen Standard Telephone Company, prior to its being acquired as a part of the New York Telephone system. For some time there has been a rumor that the building would be again used for telephone purposes.

New Yorkers May Get Horse Meat In Near Future

New York, Sept. 26 (AP)—Sale of horse meat for New York city's dinner tables appeared imminent today to offset the shortage of other meats and skyrocketing poultry and fish prices.

Sale of horse flesh for human consumption is lawful in New York, but was violently opposed by former Mayor Fiorello H. LaGuardia who called it a sign of national degradation.

After Health Commissioner Israel Weinstein said no obstacle would be put in the way of any person who applied for a license to sell horse meat in New York city, Fred A. Joseph, a partner in the Whirlaway Meat Company in Newark, N. J., visited the Department of Health to begin negotiations to open a branch here.

Weinstein said horse meat was "just as nutritious and just as good as any other type of meat." Any person wishing to sell horse meat in the city is required by law to obtain a health permit, sell no other type of meat, and identify his shop plainly as a horse meat market, he said.

Joseph said he was attempting to obtain a lease on a store in the vicinity of Ninth avenue and Twenty-fourth street.

Although the store would be the first of its kind in the city, it was learned the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration, of which LaGuardia now is head, was canning horse meat here for shipment to Europe.

Joseph said choice cuts of horse meat sold at 20 cents a pound, and other cuts, from 10 cents a pound. He added he would have no trouble obtaining an adequate supply.

House Committee Denies Removal of Hodge Suggested

Washington, Sept. 26 (AP)—The majority of a House Military Subcommittee denied today their chairman's claim that the group has recommended removal of Lt. Gen. John R. Hodge as commander of United States troops in Korea.

The five man group returned recently from a Far Eastern inspection trip. In a radio interview Tuesday at Philadelphia, Chairman Sheridan (D., Pa.) said the group has urged that Hodge be removed. He added he had told Gen. Eisenhower, the chief of staff, that troop morale in Korea was the worst he saw during the trip.

In a joint statement, Rep. Short (R., Mo.) and Rep. Thomas Martin (R., Iowa) today expressed surprise at Sheridan's remarks and said they were "confident that no such agreement has been reached by the committee nor has the committee made any such recommendation to the War Department."

Rep. Short (R., Mo.) said he knew of no such committee action.

important factors is the selection of goods in critical demand. With nails badly needed for housing, he said he recently saw 1,000 tons of surplus nails in Guatemala and El Salvador.

Reconversion Director John R. Steelman, War Assets Administrator Robert Littlejohn, and Civilian Production Administrator John D. Small were summoned as witnesses.

Ferguson and Mitchell rode over 625 miles of the Inter-American Highway on an inspection trip last month, and later conducted preliminary hearings on the road in Los Angeles.

The Michigan lawmaker expressed belief that many portions of the highway would not be in frequent use and probably would be swallowed quickly by the tropical jungle.

The committee wants to determine the total cost of the road, the reason for location of several sections of the route, financing terms and kindred questions.

Blast Rips Fronts From Four Stores

Atlanta, Sept. 26 (AP)—A terrific blast, which police said they believed was caused by dynamite, early today ripped off the fronts of four business establishments located on the edge of the downtown section. No one was injured.

The explosion ripped open the front of Parker's Sno-White Laundry pickup station at 608 Washington street, S.W., near the state capitol and tore windows and doors from two delicatessens and a beauty shop.

Windows were broken in several houses and residents were awakened from their sleep. Streets were littered with glass.

Radio Patrolmen L. O. Davis and J. B. Evans said they believed the blast was caused by dynamite.

OFF TO PROTECT POWER PLANTS

Three unidentified deputy sheriffs, armed with night clubs and tear gas bombs, begin moving to protect Pittsburgh power plants from strike pickets causing an disorder. The power strike spread paralysis in business and industry in the Pittsburgh steel area as a court ordered it ended by September 25 and jailed the independent union leader who ordered the work stoppage in defiance of an injunction. the union voted 1,771 to 402 against considering any company offer until the anti-strike injunction, issued September 9 by Common Pleas Judge Walter P. Smart, is lifted.

Members of the court have awaited word from the meeting and a report from Mueller. When Mueller appeared before them, however, the judges merely announced adjournment of court until 8:30 a. m. (Eastern Standard Time) today and told Mueller he might remain in custody of his attorney overnight.

Matter of Inconvenience

Although industrial users of electricity have been severely hit, the effect of the power strike on the public thus far has been largely a matter of inconvenience. Householders have been told to use lights and electrical appliances sparingly and about 50 percent of the shops and offices in downtown Pittsburgh have been closed. Water supplies were reported normal in the city and the many smaller communities to which Duquesne delivers current in Allegheny and Beaver counties. The city of Pittsburgh cut off supplies to outside communities but all big users reported alternate sources available.

Public schools remained open; three colleges closed. Five hospitals limited admission of new patients to maternity and emergency cases. A number of laundries closed but others continued operation with auxiliary power units. Street lights continued on although streets seemed dark because of the absence of neon signs.

Ives Charges Truman Fumbles

ployment rose instead of declining as predicted by administration economists, it was "time to start lifting controls."

"That was the time for the administration to realize its error," he said, "to understand that it had gravely underestimated the dynamic drive of the nation and to let the momentum build."

"Instead, it fearfully insisted on hanging tightly to its controls."

Ives said he would like to add another freedom to the four of the Atlantic Charter—"Freedom from government interference in every portion of our lives."

Governor Dewey told the Brotherhood yesterday his state administration had established a "real partnership" with all elements of society.

He said the basic purpose of his administration was to "advance the cause of all men and women who work and not to favor any single element of society."

Gets Bronze Star

RICHARD W. TWOMBLY

The bronze star medal has been awarded posthumously to Second Lieut. Richard W. Twombly, son of Colonel and Mrs. C. M. Twombly of West Hurley, for meritorious achievement in an infantry advance on January 6, 1945 near Kilstett, France, while leading members of the Third platoon, Company K, 232nd Infantry. The citation accompanying the award, which has just been received by his parents, states that Lieut. Twombly while leading a combat patrol as platoon leader of the Third Platoon, Co. K, 232nd Infantry, in a movement to locate the strength and disposition of enemy forces and "while proceeding across an embankment where his patrol was pinned down by enemy small arms and mortar fire."

"In an attempt to maintain his precarious position and to gain a better understanding of the situation, he fearlessly exposed himself until fatally wounded by an enemy grenade thrown at close range. Lieut. Twombly's outstanding courage and determination contributed immeasurably to the success of his mission," the citation states.

State Tuberculosis Hospital Heads to Meet in Kingston

At the Ulster County Tuberculosis Hospital on Golden Hill on Friday the annual meeting of the New York State Association of Hospital Superintendents and Managers will be held. This group includes the superintendents and managers of all tuberculosis hospitals of the state and it is expected that about 50 will be in attendance. Dr. Frederic Holcomb is president of the association. There will be a business session at which time officers will be elected and lunch will be served at the hospital. A dinner at Twaalfskill Club will be served in the evening and the business session will be continued there. Members of the hospital committee of the board of supervisors will be guests.

By George E. Sokolsky
NATIONALIZATION
One of the standard arguments of Henry Wallace and his particular brand of New Dealer is that while they believe wholeheartedly in the private enterprise system, they also hold that when private enterprise fails, the government should step in and take over. I have even heard business men of the Eric Johnston school say the same thing, the assumption being that someone must do the job. The rub is that the Government can, if it wishes, make sure that private enterprise will fail by a wage-price formula that produced bankruptcy. It is a swift method of achieving nationalization, not by law but by trickery. Private enterprise will always fail if it is unable to maintain reservoirs of capital to continue in business.
The best example of this trickery is the methods employed to force the railroads of the country into receivership. And unless something is done about it, many of the railroads, which stood up so magnificently during the war, will like so much else, collapse during the peace. And the collapse is close at hand.
When Walter S. Franklin, Vice-President of the Pennsylvania Railroad, largest in the country, can testify that his company faces the most serious financial situation in its 100-year history, on account of an increase of more than 51 per cent for labor and 19 per cent for materials without an adequate increase in freight rates, the pattern of wreckage and destruction, of nationalization by trickery, becomes perfectly clear. This railroad does about ten per cent of the railroad business of the country.
The railroad wage increases since January, 1946, amount to $913,000,000 and Mr. Franklin estimates that by January 1, 1947, the increases will pass the $1,000,000,000 mark. In the year 1946, alone, the Pennsylvania Railroad will be paying an increased wage and payroll tax bill of $74,800,000. For the same year, the increase for material and supplies increase will be $16,000,000. This means that costs for 1946 must include a total increase of $90,800,000 forced upon the railroad by government decisions and against which there is no compensatory increase in rates.
This must please such a nationalizer as Senator Taylor of Idaho, who has emerged from his crooner days to the left of Henry Wallace and Senator Pepper. He is now the most extreme Left Winger in the Senate, which is his choice and must please his voters. What experience Senator Taylor has had to justify his assumption of expertise is difficult to find in his record. The last time I saw him in the flesh, he was dressed like a Hollywood cowboy, carrying a banjo and when, in my astonishment, I asked my Boise hosts what the thing was, they nearly knocked me down by telling me that he was singing his way into the U. S. Senate. Yet, it is such an aboriginal thinker on economic subjects who has to pass on government policies with regard to industry and railroads. Maybe Senator Taylor has, in his wisdom, discovered the formula for nationalization through bankruptcy.
Here are some cold facts. Industrial material costs in July, 1946, were 62 per cent over 1941—and they are rising. Efficiency in production is down 20 per cent. The automotive industry lost 31 per cent per sales dollar for the first half of 1946, despite the carry-back and other tax credits. The Pennsylvania Railroad shows a $27,000,000 deficit for the first seven months of 1946—and it is getting worse. All stock prices are falling and junior securities are being wiped out. Commodity prices are constantly and perilously rising.
Who is kidding whom about the state of the nation? When men like Henry Wallace and Paul Porter and even the Secretary of the Treasury, John Snyder, say that for private enterprise, let them prove it. As the matter stands, it is clear that they are doing everything they can to kill private enterprise in the hope that there is one election left in the alliance with the Communies of the P. A. C. To win an election, they risk nationalization, just as Republicans in 1932 held on to Prohibition until they lost the country.

Leaves From Boyle's Notebook

By TOM REEDY
(For Hal Boyle)
Frankfurt, Germany—(AP)—The French supply officer tossed off his glass of Rhine wine, looked out the window and mused:
"Yes, the French Wacs—as you would call them—are abolished. We do not have a Wac corps, as such, any more. Would your Wac corps, for instance, be interested in a couple of dozen thousand of rose-colored brassieres?"
No, we said the Wac supply officers probably would not be interested at all, on account of all the channels the army has to go through to buy things, get supplies and vouchers, distribute them, balance quartermaster books and all that.
"That's too bad," the French officer said. "This, I think, is a good buy." He shook his head in sad recollection of what obviously was a major problem and mused aloud some more.
They Wanted Blues
It seems that the French Wacs numbering about 2,000 or so in occupied Germany, had decided that they should be issued blue brassieres as standard equipment and somebody at Baden Baden, French headquarters, had issued an order to that effect.
The requisition order was placed with a male quartermaster officer. The color made no difference to him, and he sent the order on to Marseilles.
At Marseilles, another quartermaster officer got to pondering about blue brassieres. They're nuts up there in Baden Baden, he decided.

The Broadway Casino on Broadway, near the Y.M.C.A., was destroyed by fire on April 19, 1916. The fire also damaged the adjoining H. W. Palen, and the J. E. M. Walker cigar factory in the rear of the Casino.
The old Casino was a two-story frame building and for a number of years was used by the old Kingston Cigar Co. as a repository and sales rooms. Later it was used by the Interstate Cigar Co. for the manufacture of cigars and was also used for a time by the Witwyck Press.
When Lew Fischer took over the building he opened it as a skating rink and dance hall, and afterward, turned it into a movie house, for which purpose it was being used when fire destroyed the building.
Older readers will recall the old Kingston Cigar Co. which was very active in the years before the advent of the auto era, and practically all of the leading families of the city owned one or more fine houses.
The old company sold many a surrey "with the fringe on top" as well as farm wagons, and those intended for family use.
Two of the leading wagon builders in the city in the years at the turn of the century were the late William Kolts, who operated a carriage factory on Foxhall avenue, at Haskinsville, and the late John M. Mayer who had his factory on Mill street.
Some of the finest industrial wagons and busses and surreys were by the leading families were built in Kingston in the years at the century's turn.
In the years of not so long ago the term "bakers' dozen" meant that when you went to the baker's shop and bought a dozen rolls or cup cakes the baker would throw in an extra bun or cake.
With the cost of living gradually on the uprise in the years before World War I the baker's practice of giving away the extra rolls and cakes was discontinued. Instead of getting 13 rolls or cakes for a dozen, were given the even dozen.
Those were the years when you could buy a good five-cent cigar, and a nice cream soda only cost a nickel. A ride on the trolley cars also cost but five cents and admission to the movies was a dime.
Those were no more, as high in those days as they are today. But living costs were such that even with a smaller wage the housewife could get a better value than she can today.
House rentals were also low as when I recall that when I was a boy I could rent an excellent six-room house for as low as $10 a month.
But in those years the average wage taken home by a working man would not exceed that amount. I remember hearing older folks say that a man should never pay more rent for a house than he made in one week, which would leave the other three weeks pay to be used for clothing and other necessities.

Today in Washington
Readjustment Since Stock Market Upheaval Has Brought 'Healthy Spirit' in Business, Industry
By DAVID LAWRENCE
Washington, Sept. 25 (AP)—The steady decline in the stock market since last month has produced a healthy spirit of re-examination in business and industry generally. The recession or readjustment which is under way in some lines and will not really begin in earnest until some time in 1947 will bring about the sharp psychological reaction which came in 1929 or in 1933. Rather, the opinion of many economists here is that the recession will resemble the post-war readjustment that came in 1921 shortly after President Harding took office. It lasted about a year.
The elements of a major change in the national economy are, of course, present today and, while public attention has often been focused from a long-range viewpoint on inflation due to the large war debt, the possibilities of a brief period of deflation in industrial and business operations have been overlooked.
The national economy is out of balance. Irrespective of what the causes of this unbalance happen to be—and opinions will differ—there is little doubt about what has to be done. Purchasing power has been declining due to the high prices it is not so important to determine who started the price spiral—the politicians will blame one another for this—but it is important to discover what can be done to bring back the purchasing power of money.
This cannot be done by continued increases in wage levels or in hourly earnings. What can be done is to bring prices down by increasing productivity. If business volume could be attained at lower and lower unit costs, prices could be turned downward.
There are evidences that wage unit costs are being brought down in some lines and that a start has been made toward increased productivity. This, to be sure, is the true answer to the trend toward depression. It will not be discerned in time by all businesses but when the peak of the present price trend is reached, which is expected to be early in 1947, it will become imperative for economics to be made in product, on operations, at less and less cost.
The shortages, of course, present tend to distort the price situation. Once an abundance of product is achieved, it will be necessary for the producer to figure out ways and means of bringing about the sharp psychological reaction which came in 1929 or in 1933. Rather, the opinion of many economists here is that the recession will resemble the post-war readjustment that came in 1921 shortly after President Harding took office. It lasted about a year.
What is most needed at the moment is an atmosphere of stability. The uncertainty because of strikes and the government's control programs make it difficult to get stability. With all due respect to the needs of the G. I., it has been a mistake to single out a particular group and attempt to channel materials into that category. It was far better to bring about a balance between supply and demand of materials at the earliest possible moment and out of the general increase in housing the G. I.'s would get the needed benefit sooner.
The artificial control of housing materials is producing the most serious upset in the construction industry. Unless remedied, it may inflict damage for many years to come on an industry that should be in the forefront of recovery. War veterans cannot pay for the houses they are expected to live in and many of them are too unaccustomed to residence to buy houses. What is needed is more program for rent, but the present program has not thus far yielded that result.
When Congress gets back here in January—or perhaps sooner—when the elections are over—may be that some of these controls can be modified. The era of readjustment and repair of war economic conditions will begin, however, until next year when the full effects of the balance in our economic structure are universally recognized. NEED FOR FAT SALVAGE
Today, there is a worldwide shortage of fats and oils for both food and industrial purposes.
The United States, which in prewar years imported about 1,500 million pounds of fats and oils annually, found it necessary to export fats during the war for the assistance of our Allies and, since the end of hostilities, for the relief of famine in devastated areas.
American farmers have greatly increased domestic production of fats and oils but even this is insufficient to meet our needs and most particularly, our need for fats and oils for industrial uses, such as the manufacture of soap, paints, varnishes, enamels, synthetic rubber, textiles and thousands of other items.
The Fat Salvage Program has meant the difference, and continues to mean the difference, between meeting minimum requirements for industrial fats or facing a serious disruption of manufacturing schedules of many important products. Specifically, there is a direct relationship between the amount of used fat which American homemakers save and turn in each month and the amount of soap which the government is able to permit to be made for civilian use. In 1945, assuming that all military demands were met, there would have been 13 per cent (a month-and-a-half's supply) less soap available for civilians if it had not been for the Fat Salvage Program.
Present indications are that the worldwide fat shortage will continue for some time to come. Therefore, American women must help themselves and help their country by saving and turning in every available ounce of used fat after they have obtained all the food value from it.
The need for fats and oils is more acute than ever and with the meat shortage the problem is even more difficult. The only solution can come in having a large number of women save their used fats and turn it into their butcher.

RHEUMATISM

Some months ago in writing of the treatment of rheumatoid arthritis (commonest form of rheumatism) it was pointed out that as the causes were many the methods of treatment were likewise many and, among the physicians or specialists required to give necessary treatment were dentists, orthopedic surgeons, psychiatrists, gland specialists, X-ray specialists and others. As to the need for X-ray treatment of rheumatism may cause some to wonder it is of interest to read of the effect of this form of treatment.
In Radiology Drs. Jonas Borak and Henry K. Taylor (New York University) report that during the past two years they have given X-ray treatment to 66 patients who failed to respond to other methods of treatment (cold, vaccines, surgery, and physical therapy—heat, electricity, baths, massage). Treatment was given according to the cause and the condition of the tissues involved. The amount of involvement by rheumatism and damage to tissues was classified as stage 1, 2 or 3, and the amount of radiation given depended on the stage within any given area or part.
The results obtained by X-ray treatment were good considering the fact that all other methods had failed to give relief to these patients.
X-ray treatment is given for relief of local symptoms to ease pain and increase movement in the affected joints and muscles. This X-ray treatment should be supplemented by physical therapy, particularly exercise and massage.
"Patients in generally poor health, with progressive anemia and advanced wasting of the muscles should not be treated by X-rays," Drs. Borak and Taylor point out that patients undergoing X-ray treatment must be treated individually as "considerable varying doses are required to obtain comparable effects in joints in different stages of the disease even in the same individual." Thus if one of the joints of three adjoining fingers is in the first stage, the next in the second stage and the next in the third stage three different sized doses may be necessary. The same is true for different parts of the spine in different stages. This is because pain in the three stages may have three different causes.

TODAY'S GARDEN-GRAPH

ROOTS GROWING OUT OF DRAINAGE HOLE
POT-BOUND PLANT SHOWING ROOTS INTERLACED ON OUTSIDE OF BALL

Winter Gardening With Potted Plants
By DEAN HALLIDAY
Released by Central Press Association
POTTED plants which have been vacationing through the summer months are being brought indoors now for winter gardening. This, therefore, is a good time to check them to determine if they are sickly due to over-watering or from standing out in the rain. It may be that some will be found to be pot-bound. If so, they should be re-potted now, although as a general rule spring is re-potting time.
Most house plants only require re-potting once a year and many of the slower growing varieties not that often. When re-potting use a pot only one size larger.
New, porous pots should be soaked for a day in water before using, otherwise they will absorb all the moisture from the soil which is necessary for the newly set plants. Old pots should be thoroughly washed before being reused.
A pot-bound plant with the roots interlaced on the outside of the ball is shown in the accompanying Garden-Graph. As shown, the roots are so numerous they form a network on the outside of the soil ball. This indicates that the plant needs more room. Frequently, the roots grow out of the drainage hole as illustrated.
To remove the plant without breaking the soil ball, first water the soil, then turn the pot upside down, holding the plant between the first two fingers at its base. Tap the pot gently. This will loosen the root ball.
Not all plants require the same soil moisture but for general use, one-third rich garden soil, one-third peat, leaf mold or humus and one-third sharp sand will make a good friable mixture.

Talking With Lawyers

Hollywood, Sept. 26 (P)—Francis T. T. and his wife are discussing some of their differences with lawyers. Although Mrs. T. the former Jean Wallace, did not comment on the situation, the actor's lawyer, Louis Schwartz, said "there is no rift that cannot be cured. There is no separation and there is not going to be one." T. previously had denied that there had been a separation, but referred questions to Schwartz for further comment. The Tones have been married five years and have two children.

No Endorsement Given

Harrisburg, Pa., Sept. 26 (P)—The executive council of the Pennsylvania Federation of Labor (A.F.L.), for the first time in its history, has declined to endorse state-wide candidates in the November election. State President James L. McDevitt said the council met yesterday and unanimously voted to remain neutral in this year's campaign.

W.C.T.U. Meets At Ellenville

Mrs. Carpenter Elected President 12th Time

(Contributed)

The Ulster county officers of the W.C.T.U. who went to the Ellenville convention on September 19 are still the county officers. The President Carpenter who rapped the gavel for the opening at 10 o'clock will rap for the opening of the institute in Plattekill next spring. The election of September 19 made Mrs. Carpenter president for the twelfth time. Mrs. Lillian Shukis is replacing Mrs. Edward Young as trustee. She is to serve for three years. Mrs. R. M. Hasbrouck, president of New Paltz Union, now becomes the director for the citizenship department.

In the portion of the resolutions offered at the close of the convention which expressed appreciation for Ellenville hospitality, the words "made this a satisfying convention" were used. Satisfying describes this convention. The resolutions made special mention of the pleasure given by Allan Wheeler's singing and William Terwilliger's piano solo. These ladies delighted with their music. The term youthful delinquency was not used in the convention speeches. It was referred to by other terms, but the word is in the resolutions. It is called a menace to our nation and because of this the Ulster County W.C.T.U. goes on record as deciding to request the State Education Department to make mandatory the reading of the Ten Commandments once every week in every public school of the state.

Before these resolutions were offered for adoption, two interesting sessions had brought reports, greetings and addresses. We think of Mrs. Edward Young in the morning worship period, drawing from the 94th Psalm the advice to substitute "I am standing by this principle" for the easy, "What's the use?" We think of the Rev. J. C. Eason of the Ellenville Methodist Church putting in to his greeting the stanza of Mrs. Young's opening hymn, that we had omitted to save time—

"Though the wrong Be oft so strong, God is the ruler yet."

We think of his bidding us look at the resources instead of the obstacles. We think of Mrs. Ernest Sherman, president of Ellenville Union, endorsing her pastor's greeting and putting warmth into her own.

We think of bright spots in the reports—success in the efforts to "pave" Ulster's portion of the "Mile of Quarters" and so giving her part in the creation of a temperance movie, helping with the expenses of the national convention and providing money for more extensive work with the children and youth; of Mrs. Genter's earnest efforts to bring temperance instruction to the Sunday schools in an interesting way; of the new L.T.L. Mrs. Tessa organized in Clintondale on August 9; of temperance cartoons in the Ellenville Press and Highland News; of the 1,433 inches of space Ulster county papers gave the W.C.T.U. articles; of the 1,000 people who saw Ellenville exhibits in church and club and public school; of Mrs. Ernest Bell's description of how temperance messages all around the globe and gives the Kingston Union an opportunity to write letters to Dr. Perkins of Clintondale, Highland, New Paltz, Milton and Ellenville reaching a high percentage in the efficiency standard and gaining the reward offered by the state W.C.T.U.

The ministers of Ellenville contributed helpfully to the program of the day. The Rev. J. H. Ludlum, Jr., of the Reformed Church, led a unique period of devotion as the afternoon session came on. His scripture was Isaiah's "Woe to the crown of pride, to the drunkards of Ephraim" that we read in his 28th chapter. Reading on the Rev. Mr. Ludlum allowed us to look on the undoing of these proud drinkers, while Jehovah becomes a crown of glory and a diadem of beauty for those who pursue a different course. The words gave the Rev. Mr. Ludlum a chance to say that an "amen" comes from the hearts of men when a good cause is upheld, even if one who would utter this are not in the ranks of those openly opposing the evil. That's why he could tell the delegates that there was no reason to be discouraged. It was united prayer, indeed, when the Rev. Mr. Ludlum drew his audience to a prayerful attitude and gave them the privilege of being an echo of every sentence he uttered. Echoed petitions is what we call the blended prayer of leader and people.

The Rev. J. C. Eason was twice on the program. Hearts were warmed by his greeting in the morning. Heart and mind responded to his plea for methods of handling the old evil in its modern disguises. We see why Ellenville could bring such a good report of the activities of the department of extension. It was Mr. Eason who introduced charts, posters and visual aids to his church school workers. "New methods for the new elements in the drink problem of our times" is the Rev. Mr. Eason's slogan. So he would show the youth what alcohol is and what it does, especially what a small quantity of alcohol does as it first casts its blur over the higher faculties and pushes self-control aside.

Not the least of the joys of going to Ellenville to be profited by a convention is the inspiration found on the way, through the rugged, enticing, uplifting scenery that marks every mile of the roads leading thither—and September 19 was such a beautiful day to make such a journey.

WAR OR PEACE

Lake Katrine, N. Y.

September 21, 1946

Editor, The Freeman

I have heard hundreds of times in the never-ending discussions about war, past and future, the expression, "Oh, well, what can we do about it?" The politicians make the wars. And it is probably true, for public opinion is very easily swayed and, without a doubt, more people know the standings of the baseball teams in the various leagues than know the standings in international affairs. But, if, as prophesied by so many responsible persons in public life in every country of the world, we have another war within the next few years, we can not say that (if there is anyone left to discuss it). We can, if we speak the truth, say only that the people made the war.

For Henry Wallace has brought our foreign policy to the people—it is up to them to every one of us—now to say what America shall do. We ought, every one of us, to read in its entirety the foreign policy letter of Wallace. It was printed nearly entire in Drew Pearson's column in the Leader September 18 and 19, also in The New York Times of September 18. We should then think—think hard. We have to decide whether we can live in peace or whether we can afford to chance another war, one which may destroy this world entirely.

We are not deciding whether we prefer Democracy or Communism. That is not the issue—and I consider the practice of the Russia-haters of calling anyone who it not violently anti-Russian a "Commie" or a "dink" a below-the-belt blow decidedly not worthy of consideration. We are deciding whether we must fight Russia because she is Communist or whether we can live at peace with Russia. If we can and wish to live at peace, let us stop making warlike gestures all the time we talk about peace. We have to decide now because if we continue as we are, each one getting more and more prepared to fight, a spark will set it off and it will be too late.

The explanation of the Russian people's accepting Communism, accompanied by dictatorship, is that they traded their freedom for the security their government gives them. If we were to spend the money we are using to prepare for war to care for our sick, wipe out our slums, educate our young, for the welfare of our people—all this this freedom, what argument could there be for Communism? Need we fear it?

Think of our great nation leading in peace and social progress, not bringing fear into the hearts of its own citizens and those of every other country—fear that it will involve them all in the final war of destruction. What will you have—war or peace? Choose—and let your President know your decision.

Sincerely,
LAURA M. RETHIER

ULSTER PARK

Ulster Park, Sept. 25—Mrs. J. M. Pennington of Kingston was a week-end guest of Mr. and Mrs. Holt N. Winfield.

The Ladies' Aid Society held its first meeting of the fall with Annie V. Terpening Thursday afternoon. Plans were made to hold the annual turkey supper in the hall on October 23.

The annual meeting of the Terpening Burying Ground Association will be held at the cemetery Sunday, September 29, at 2:30. There will be election of officers.

Ulster Grange will hold its regular Booster Night meeting in the hall Friday evening. A pot-luck supper will be served at 6 o'clock, followed by an interesting program. All Grange members, their families, and invited guests will be welcome to the supper and entertainment. The Juvenile Grange will have a part in the program.

Every member of the Grange is asked to furnish some article of food for the supper.

Mrs. Marguerite Vigliemio has closed her summer home here and returned to New York for the winter.

Mrs. Earle Terwilliger, collector for School District No. 2, town of Esopus, has received the school tax list and will receive taxes at her home for 30 days.

Relief to Foreign Lands Won't End Soon, Truman Says

Washington, Sept. 26 (AP)—President Truman told Congress today the job of providing relief to war-ravaged lands will not end this year—an apparent indication that additional appropriations may be asked for the International Mercy Mission.

In a message accompanying the administration's eighth quarterly report on U.N.R.R.A.'s operations, the chief executive said it is essential that we look ahead to the relief requirements which will confront war-devastated areas in the coming year.

To the people of the United States he declared that "we must continue our endeavors to conserve our food resources," and added that—despite the success thus far in averting world tragedy—"it would be doubly tragic if we were not prepared to meet the needs of the task ahead."

Mr. Truman's message left no doubt of the way in which relief work beyond that for which funds already have been provided would be carried out; whether through an extension of U.N.R.R.A., through the United Nations, or independently.

Enrollment Swells In Pre-Payment Medical Care Plan

Rochester, N. Y., Sept. 26 (AP)—Enrollment in pre-payment medical care plans sponsored by medical societies increased 125 per cent in New York state during the first six months of this year, the president of the State Medical Society said today.

Dr. William Hale, in a prepared speech, told the 40th annual meeting of the Seventh District Medical Society that more than 135,000 subscribers were added during the six-month period.

He described voluntary plans as "the framework of an acceptable way of easing the financial impact of illness without shackling both doctor and patient with the chains of rigid government control."

"It is our way of showing that we can furnish a valuable commodity—medical care—more efficiently and less expensively than a government bureau (can)," he added.

OPA Has Charges Against 6 Garages In Federal Court

New York, Sept. 26 (AP)—The O.P.A. has filed treble damage actions in federal court against six garages which allegedly charged overpricing for services.

The O.P.A. also asked yesterday that orders be entered directing the defendants to comply with record-keeping provisions and that injunctions be issued restraining the defendants from further violations of O.P.A. regulations.

Among the garages cited were the following from the Bronx: Jona Garage Corp., operating as Breidner Brothers Garage, 85 East 158th street; Donald Garage Corp., operating as New System

Garage, 3000 Jerome avenue; Brandon Garage, Inc., Sheridan avenue, and 161st street; and Isadore Cohen and Max Lewitt, operating as Sydon Garage, 235 East 167th street.

No amount of damages or alleged overcharges were contained in the complaints. Those amounts will be fixed after trials of the individual actions.

Ellenville Veterans Memorial Hospital to Have Large Addition

Fund of $75,000
Over Half Way
Mark in Drive

New Brick Addition of 77x37 Feet Will More
Than Double Present
Bed Capacity

The great need for increased space, as well as modernized facilities and added equipment, to meet the demands of the increasingly wide area served by the Veterans Memorial Hospital of Ellenville—a need that at times, especially during the summer months, has been acute—bids fair to be met in the not distant future.

A drive to raise a fund of at least $75,000 for new building and equipment, under way in the Ellenville area for some months, has met much generous response. There have been numerous large individual subscriptions and various organizations, summer hotels and boarding houses in the area served, have held benefit entertainments. Latest report showed that the fund had reached the neighborhood of $45,000, considerably past the half-way mark, with many probable contributors yet to be reached.

Thomas J. Duffield, supervising principal of the Ellenville schools, headed the drive for funds during the summer months and until the press of school work demanded most of his time. Of late active direction of the campaign has been in the hands of Robert V. Stapleton.

An indication that the officers and directors of the hospital feel encouraged to go ahead with plans, is seen in the announcement that George A. Lowe, well known Kingston architect, has been awarded the contract to prepare plans for a large addition to the present building, with provision for an elevator and other changes.

These plans already have been prepared by Architect Lowe and have been approved by the State Department at Albany. No definite date for beginning the work has been set, Mr. Lowe said today, but it will be taken up when conditions seem propitious, probably some time during the coming year.

New Operating Unit
Plans for the remodeled and enlarged hospital call for a capacity of from 40 to 50 beds, whereas the present hospital has a capacity of but 17 beds. In addition, Mr. Lowe said, there will be a complete new operating unit, while the installation of an elevator, not feasible in the present building, will greatly facilitate the work of nurses and other members of the staff.

Chief feature of the contemplated building program will be the erection of a two-story basement addition, 77 by 37 feet, with a wing at the rear.

The addition will be on the northeast, or Center street side of the present structure and, like it, facing on Circle avenue. It will be built of brick and will be of fire-resistant construction throughout. The front of the present hospital building will be changed to harmonize with the addition, while to add to the general effect the old building, built of red brick, will be given a veneer of the same style brick as will be used in the new work.

Due to the contour of the ground the basement portion of the addition will be above grade, making it practically a three-story building.

The fine old brick residence property which has housed the Veterans Memorial Hospital since its opening May 30, 1924, was deemed ample, after remodeling, for the purpose it was expected to fulfill at that time. The greatly increased demands of later years were not foreseen.

The property was the home of Dr. William F. Scoresby, a well known Ellenville physician and who served as supervisor of the town of Wawarsing in 1876, during the latter part of the 1800's, and became familiarly known as the Scoresby Place. It was by him conveyed to Mary Scoresby Eastgate and Louisa Scoresby Sherman in 1877. They occupied it for many years.

The transfer of the home residence portion of the estate to the newly-organized Veterans Memorial Hospital, Inc., was made November 10, 1923, by Frank B. Hoornbeek and Lillian Scoresby Clark, executors of the will of Mrs. Eastgate, consideration given being $24,000.

'Father' of Hospital

The late Dr. George F. Wilkowiak, a popular Ellenville physician, has been rightly called the "father" of the hospital. Dr. Wilkowiak had felt the need of hospital facilities of some kind in Ellenville, a small private sanitarium of uncertain tenure being the sole dependence of this nature. When a suggestion said to have been made early in 1923 by Ralph Budd was made, to the effect that a hospital would be the most suitable memorial to the veterans of World War I, Dr. Wilkowiak at once began to urge the proposition with increased fervor.

Despite his very frail health and with the cooperation of the American Legion, the members of the Board of Education, of which he was president and where the subject was discussed, and with others interested, Dr. Wilkowiak gave his whole-hearted support to the project until it became a reality.

Professor E. C. Hocmer, supervising principal of the Ellenville schools, was induced to undertake the task of raising the necessary funds. He proved to be the right man for the job and when the drive started in May, 1923, was completed in November, 1923, the people of Ellenville and vicinity had contributed the fine sum of $40,000. The late Mrs. John F. Norbury, widely known for her generosity, had headed the list with a contribution of $5,000.

First Meeting in 1923

November 5, 1923 the hospital corporation held its first meeting in the American Legion rooms. M. Eugene Clark was elected president; Ralph Budd, vice-president; Deyo W. Johnson, secretary and B. H. Wood, treasurer. Professor Hocmer, William L. Douglas, and Clarence Hoornbeek were named as an executive committee and William S. Doyle, Jacob Benson and Dr. Arch Freer, finance committee.

Plans for remodeling the Scoresby residence were drawn by Architect Robert R. Graham and the work was done by Contractor Charles F. Goldsmith.

On Memorial Day, May 30, 1924, the new hospital was formally opened with notable ceremonies, starting with a large parade at 2 p. m.

M. Eugene Clark presided during the first part of the program and the hospital, which included an address by the Hon. George B. Lunn, lieutenant-governor of the state and an address by Dr. Wilkowiak, who had been named president of the medical staff of the hospital.

Communism in the Balkans

By WILLIAM B. KING

(Who has just returned from six years in and near the "Russian sphere.")

New York, Sept. 26 (AP)—

"Orders from Moscow" is a phrase frequently heard when outsiders discuss the political situations in the Communist-dominated countries of eastern Europe. Leaders of these countries vehemently deny all that the term implies.

Just what form and amount of control does Russia exercise over the government of a neighboring Communist state such as Yugoslavia? That is a question frequently asked but never authoritatively answered.

My observations in countries where Communists hold key positions such as Bulgaria or Romania or where they exercise complete control as in Yugoslavia have convinced me that control from Moscow is much more subtle than generally is supposed in the United States.

People who visualize Generalissimo Joseph Stalin picking up the telephone and calling Marshal Tito with instructions to shoot down an American plane or to pass a new law are way off the beam.

Of course, the policy of Communists in eastern European governments meshes smoothly with the policy of the Kremlin. Events of the past two years make that amply clear. But anyone who thinks that this is brought about through detailed and specific orders from Moscow with each tick of the clock vastly underestimates the vitality and energy of the Communist movement.

Don't Need Instructions

Communist politicians don't get minute instructions for their daily work because they don't need them. They know their jobs. They know what is expected of them. They know their Marxist dogma, and they know how this theory has been implemented and interpreted by Lenin and Stalin. In short, they are cogs in the huge Communist machine.

Marshal Tito, for instance, got his first lessons in Communist revolutionary technique when he fought with the Red Army in the last year of the first World War. He previously had deserted the Austro-Hungarian Army to throw in his lot with the Russians.

From that time Tito devoted his life to the revolution. He was sentenced to prison in his native Croatia for Communist agitation. He was an important cog in the Communist organization which smuggled men from the Balkan countries to fight on the side of Republican Spain in that country's civil war.

He was living the life of a fugitive in Yugoslavia when the Germanies, starting with a large parade at 2 p. m.

M. Eugene Clark presided during the first part of the program and the hospital, which included an address by the Hon. George B. Lunn, lieutenant-governor of the state and an address by Dr. Wilkowiak, who had been named president of the medical staff of the hospital.

Dr. (Major) Jack Blumberg, commander of George D. Cook Post, American Legion, presided at the second part of the program. It included presentation of a flag on behalf of the Post by Joseph Tunison and a speech of acceptance by the Hon. William D. Cunningham. Clayton's Band furnished music for the day.

In addition to the hospital organization, a Women's Auxiliary had been organized in November, 1923. It was headed by Mrs. Philip Silverman, other officers being Mrs. Frances Hoornbeek, vice-president, Mrs. Bert H. Terwilliger, secretary and Mrs. Ben M. Taylor, treasurer.

It was not long before the need of further accommodations became evident and in 1926 the well built barn at the rear of the hospital was remodeled for use as quarters for the nurses. About a year later a one-story brick addition to the hospital was built, for the use of maternity patients.

Miss Ednah C. Smith of Kingston was the efficient superintendent of the hospital from its opening in 1924 until she resigned about a year ago and was succeeded by Miss Kathryn M. Wiseman of Kingston.

His home became any spot in Europe where the Communist underground needed him. His life, as surely as that of any of the top leaders in Soviet Russia, was devoted to the idea of revolution.

This life came to a climax in Germany with the Reichstag fire trial of 1933, when he made a fool of Hermann Goering of the then-budding Nazi party. The fame that came with his acquittal destroyed his value as an underground worker, so Dimitrov moved up to bigger and more important jobs. He returned to Russia to head the Comintern, devoted to world revolution.

No Advice Needed

To assume that such men have to ask Stalin how to run a revolution is like saying that a featherweight champion doesn't know how to fight just because he doesn't operate in the same division with heavyweight Joe Louis. This does not mean that there are no conferences between leaders in Russia and Communist statesmen of other countries to coordinate policy in international affairs. Such meetings are frequent.

Just as Stalin has his politburo to make policy with him, so have Tito and Dimitrov their top Communist colleagues to share responsibility. That the policy of these groups and other similar ones in other countries should adhere to a consistent line is inevitable. If one such group sought to strike out on its own it probably would find all support from Russia suddenly withdrawn.

If Communist dogma and history is not enough to insure conformity, the policy of the Communist organization in Russia is enough to guarantee it. Circumstances and personalities combine to make for consistent Communist activity wherever Communist hold power. Stalin does not have to issue daily orders. He knows that he can depend on his lieutenants regardless of their nationality.

Rudolph Galleries Fall Exhibition

Artist Stanley W. Crane's painting "Bach", which won the Salts Medal at the National Academy in 1945.

Rudolph Galleries New Exhibition Is Varied, Exciting

Henry Morton Robinson reviews for The Freeman the current exhibition of the Rudolph Galleries at Woodstock.

On September 15 the Fall Exhibition of the Rudolph Galleries at Woodstock, N. Y., was formally opened to the public for the seventh successive year. This amazingly successful venture, undertaken on a very modest scale in 1939, has won the frank admiration of painters and critics by the sustained excellence of its exhibits. Rudolph Frederick-Fiolle's ability to attract leading artists and to dispose of their work, provides nourishing material for conversation whenever Woodstock painters meet to compare notes—and sales.

The new exhibition, housed in a charmingly proportioned building devoted to the display of pictures, is a varied and exciting show. Scarcely a name of importance is missing—indeed the roster of Rudolph's "stable" becomes more and more impressive with the years. Henry Mattson, Anton Refregier, Arnold Blanch, S. Menkes, Paul Burlin, Stanley W. Crane, Sidney Laupman and Doris Lee—to mention only a few—are represented on Rudolph's wall.

With his customary good judgment he has selected unusually fine canvases and has hung them with the flair of a dealer who is an aficionado of painting.

Notably among the pictures are the latest landscapes of Mark Vukovic, struck off with fresh spirit. A similar comment can be made on the small but highly organized canvas by Karl Fortess, which achieves a powerfully dynamic effect with great economy. Also, in the modern vein, is Paul Burlin's "Wish You Were Here" in which the artist reveals his keen sensitivity to the relationship of color space and form. Amongst the most imposing pictures in the show is Arnold Blanch's oil "Young Hunters", a study in grey dramatized by a sparing use of red. An important still-life by Stuart Edie, dominates the right-hand wall, and is balanced by Anton Refregier's boldly executed Nude in A Quarry, directly opposite. Henry Mattson's characteristic blue is seen in his Sea Study. Peggy Dodds shows one of her best circus pieces; Stanley W. Crane, whose distinguished painting "Bach" won the Salts Medal at the National Academy in 1945, shows outstanding skill and the master touch in his delightful realistic landscape "Autumn." Lillian Fiolle's portrait of "Carol" is full of admiration and contrasting colors. Sidney Laupman contributes a poetically-conceived landscape; other memorable pictures are those of Sigmund Menkes, Mary Earley and Lucile Blanch. Hermann Cherry's miniatures and "Mobiles in Colored Glass" are novel and amusing.

Woodstock painters have long realized that Rudolph has an uncanny knowledge of what picture-lovers will buy, and are sending him only prime examples of their work.

Judging by his sales in previous years and the superb quality of the pictures now on exhibition, the Rudolph Galleries should have a gratifying fall season. Other painters on view are: Marianne Appel, Edward Chavez, Florence Ballin Cramer, Alfeo Faggi, Victor Joseph Gatto, Harry Gottlieb, Marion Greenwood, Raymond Kargere, Georgia Klitzgaard, Margaret Lowengard, Jennie Magan, Ethel Magafan, Charles Rosen, Doris Lee, Andree Ruellan, E. Madeline Shift, Kurt Sluizer, John W. Taylor, Elizabeth Terrell and Denny Winters.

'Y' Reports Show $1,799 Is Raised; Goal Is $10,000

Thursday evening the first report meeting of the current Y.W.C.A. campaign to raise funds for operating expenses for the year was held and there was reported a total sum of $1,799.40 toward the goal for $10,000. While the report was small, this was due to the fact that many workers were unable to attend the meeting because of other activities which were scheduled.

The next report will be on Monday, September 30, when a full attendance of workers as well as members of the worker groups will be expected. The campaign will extend through next Monday and all workers are urged to canvass their territory so as to be able to present a full report at the next meeting.

At the campaign meeting Thursday evening a group of five girls who had enjoyed camping at "Traverse" Acres, this summer were present and participated in the entertainment of the workers by singing a number of camp songs, including a new song which was composed this summer by Miss Joan Craig, camp counselor. Those participating were Janet Rose, Marjorie Merritt, Joyce Pope and Dorothy Wilson and Helen Means who acted as leader of the group.

The Rev. William J. McVey gave the invocation and Don Williams, secretary of the Kingston Chapter of Commerce, spoke on the campaign followed by the reports of the chairmen.

Mrs. Charles Terwilliger, chairman of the hospitality committee, was in charge of serving the dinner.

Pope Favors Byrnes Policy

Rome, Sept. 26 (AP)—James A. Farley, who saw Pope Pius XII yesterday, said today he had found the Pontiff "thoroughly in accord with the firm American policy" pronounced by Secretary of State James F. Byrnes at Paris. The former Democratic party national chairman said he himself also was firmly behind "the administration's foreign policy and the manner in which Byrnes is carrying it out." Farley, here on a round the world business trip that will take him tomorrow to Athens and thence to Egypt, China, Japan, the Philippines and perhaps Australia and New Zealand, also saw Premier Alcide De Gasperi last night.

Plaster Model Erected

Vatican City, Sept. 26 (AP)—A plaster model of a statue of Saint Francis Xavier, American saint canonized last July, has been erected in St. Peter's Basilica, where technicians will put finishing touches on it before its reproduction in marble is authorized.

Year Without a Summer

The year 1816 is popularly known as the year without a summer because there were frosts and snow in every month in the northern states.

DIED

DIXON—In this city Wednesday, September 25, 1946, Carrie A. Dixon, wife of Simon O. Dixon.

Funeral private. Interment in Montrose cemetery. Friends will be received at the funeral home of Ernest A. Kelly, 111 West Chester street Friday evening between the hours of 7 and 9 p. m.

GULNAC—Al Ashkan, N. Y. Wednesday, September 25th 1946, Alvin D. Gulnac, father of Fred Gulnac, Mrs. John Bell, and Mrs. Francis Lane, brother of Mrs. Thomas Sullivan.

LENKE—In this city September 26, 1946, John K. Lenke.

Funeral service will be held at his residence, 25 Presidents Place, on Saturday at 2 p. m. Relatives and friends are invited. Interment in Montrose cemetery. Friends may call Friday afternoon from 3-5 and from 7-9 that evening.

J. K. Lenke Dies At Home Today

man he went to Russia where for 18 years he was engaged in the manufacturing business until he returned to this country.

Fraternally Mr. Lenke was a member of Teutonia Lodge, No. 367, F. & A. M., of Reading. This year he celebrated his 50th anniversary as a member of that lodge. In Kingston he was a member of Mt. Horeb Chapter and the Roundout Commandery, and of Cyprus Temple of the Shrine of Albany. He was also a member of the Pennsylvania Society in New York.

Kept Up Realty Interest

Mr. Lenke after selling the Apollo Magneto Corp. to Electrol, Inc., retired from the manufacturing business, but remained active in the affairs of the Jellico Realty Inc.

Some months ago he announced that he planned, as soon as building materials were available, to erect a number of houses on the large plot of land lying between Pine Grove avenue and the West Shore railroad.

As head of the Apollo concern, Mr. Lenke was deeply interested in the welfare of the city, and was active in all plans for the expansion of the industrial life of Kingston.

Mr. Lenke is survived by his wife, Mrs. Emma Conrad Lenke; two daughters, Florence, wife of Walter F. McColl of Ridgefield, N. J., and Marguerite, widow of Lynn D. Wessels, of West Chestnut street, this city, and two grandchildren, Walter L. and Frances R. McColl, both of Ridgefield.

Funeral services will be held Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the home, with burial in Montrose cemetery.

Friends may call at the home Friday afternoon between the hours of 3 and 5 o'clock, and that evening between the hours of 7 and 9 o'clock.

Local Death Record

Mrs. Viola Cooper Coddington, wife of Russell Coddington, died Tuesday at her home in Pine Bush. She was a daughter of the late George and Anna Irwin Cooper. Surviving are her husband, three daughters, Mrs. Gladys Donnelly of Kingston, Doris of Washington, D. C., and Ruth, at home; a son, Russell, at home; a sister, Mrs. Francis Low of Pine Bush; and a brother, Irwin Cooper of Ellenville.

Abram D. Gulnac, 94, one of the oldest residents of the town of Olive, died at the home of his son, Fred Gulnac, with whom he resided in Ashkan on Wednesday. Surviving relatives, besides his son, are two daughters, Mrs. John Bell of Brothards and Mrs. Francis Lane of Mt. Tremper, seven grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

Mrs. Carrie A. Dixon, wife of Simon O. Dixon, of 20 Augusta street, died Wednesday afternoon after a long illness. Mrs. Dixon was born in Kingston and had lived here all her life. She was a woman who was widely and favorably known, and held in high esteem by a wide circle of friends. Besides her husband she is survived by five sons, Robert S., Herbert A., Edward C., John L., and Raymond E. Dixon, all of this city; and five daughters, Mrs. I. Baker, Mrs. W. Bruck, Mrs. J. Cusher, Mrs. W. Lewis, and Miss Myrtle Dixon, all of this city; a sister, Mrs. Florian Winger of Bayonne, N. J., and two brothers, Fred Dohnken of Albany, and William Dohnken of this city. Funeral services will be privately held, with burial in Montrose cemetery. Friends will be received at the funeral home of Ernest A. Kelly, 111 West Chester street, Friday evening between the hours of 7 and 9 o'clock.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Sept. 26 (AP)—Stock market leaders, with scattered exceptions, yielded to light early selling in today's market but trends eventually stiffened.

From the start dealings were among the slowest of the past month. While losses running to 2 or more points were reduced or converted into advances near the fourth hour, the minus column was well populated.

Brokers discerned some further buying on the idea that more of a technical comeback was probable. They said there was a certain amount of profit cushioning on the two-session rally, additional liquidation to register tax losses and the trimming of accounts by those who had yet to be convinced that the bear swing was concluded.

Resistant favorites included Chrysler, Goodrich, U. S. Steel, Woolworth, Douglas Aircraft, Boeing, National Distillers, North American, Burlington Mills (on an extra dividend), Southern Railway and N. Y. Central. Backward most of the time were General Motors, Sears Roebuck, International American Can, Air Reduction, Allied Chemical, Dow Chemicals and Chesapeake & Ohio.

Bonds and commodities were uneven.

Quotations by Morgan Davis & Co., members of the New York Stock Exchange, 60 Beaver street, New York city, branch office, 48 Main street, R. B. Osterhout, manager.

First Baptist Men's Club Elects Officers

Lee Powell was elected president of the Men's Club of the First Baptist Church at its annual business meeting last evening, following a spaghetti supper in the church parlors. He succeeds Arthur Brown. Other officers elected were: William MacElveen, vice-president; Arthur Jones, secretary; Raymond H. Woodward, treasurer. Mr. Powell announced that he would appoint committees at the meeting Wednesday evening, October 30.

The committee for purchase of a new organ reported and was re-appointed for another year, with a vote of confidence. It includes William Jackson, chairman; Byron Chatham, William Brady, Sherwood Lasher and Paul Jones. The treasurer reported a balance of $81 and said that he would take care of the annual church picnic.

Douglas Harvey and Sherwood Lasher were appointed to the amplifying committee for the church during the preaching mission under the leadership of Dr. William Ward Ayer, October 2 to 13.

A sound picture, "Along Main Street," was shown through the courtesy of the Coca Cola Bottling Co., Newburgh, by Otto Van Thinen and Otto Weaver, salesmen.

The supper was served by Sherwood Lasher, Chester Greene and Edwin E. Cray. Richard Tallent and Dean Bohnke were received into the club.

Shots Hit House

Troopers from Lake Katrine were called yesterday to investigate a complaint that someone was shooting in the neighborhood of Lincoln Park off Route 9-W. An investigation was made and it was found Lucian Tripp, employed on the Chambers farm, had engaged in target practice with a 22 rifle and some of the shots had gone wild. The residence of Ben Asin was struck by the shots. Mr. Tripp expressed surprise that the bullets had carried that far and discontinued his target practice. There was no damage and no one was injured.

$10,000 for Death of Boy

A verdict of $10,000 was returned by a jury in Supreme Court at Catskill Tuesday in favor of Manley Brink in a negligence action brought for the death of his six-year-old son on June 20 this year, according to the Catskill Mail. The action was brought against Eugene Grabenstatter, stated to have been the owner of the death car, and Frederick Terry, the driver. The boy in company with his two brothers and another boy were walking near their home when the accident occurred. Daniel Prior was trial counsel for the plaintiff.

Leaves Catskill Church

The Rev. John H. Vruwink, pastor of the First Reformed Church, of Catskill, will become the assistant rector of St. John's Episcopal Church, Ogdensburg, in November. The Rev. Mr. Vruwink was installed pastor of the Catskill Church June 20, 1941.

Methane, the most plentiful of all gases, is generated in marshes, sewers, and the human intestines.

News of Our Own Service Folk

It is announced from Orly Field, Paris, that Arthur C. Buck, serving with the Air Force, has been promoted to corporal. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Buck of 11 Hone street, a graduate of Kingston High School and entered the service in July, 1945. He has been in Europe since January and is now on duty with the passenger service at Orly.

T. S. Williams, St. Marks of Kingston, and Sgt. Oscar W. Mount of Clontondale were discharged from the army September 25 at Fort Dix.

Lutherans Hear Prof. Reagan at Redeemer Dinner

Professor William J. Reagan, principal of the Oakwood School, Poughkeepsie, with which he has been connected for the past 30 years, who has pleased audiences in this area on other occasions, with his humor and forthright philosophy, was the speaker at the third annual congregational dinner of the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer Wednesday night.

Donald Griffin, chairman for the rally, which was attended by 225 members of the congregation, welcomed the guests. The Rev. Pres. S. Gaenzle, in introducing the speaker, said that he hoped the church would "accentuate the positive" in its work the coming year.

Real Meaning of Cross

Professor Reagan spoke about the lack of general understanding of the real meaning of the Cross; that so many people "seem to know the words, but not the 'tune' of the great teachings of the church. As an instance, he said, it was 'the task of the church to teach the people the 'tune' of the Sermon on the Mount' to give them a real understanding of what it meant.

The necessity of work to achieve results in life was stressed and the speaker declared that boys and girls must be taught that we have to climb the hills of life step by step. "I am awfully afraid for the boy or girl, man or woman, who thinks that you can get some place without going there," he said. Mention was made of the father who brought his boy to Oakwood School and asked if it couldn't be fixed so that he wouldn't have to work too hard. "I don't want him to work as hard as I have," said the father.

Talks on Prejudice

The subject of racial prejudice, with particular reference to treatment of the Negro, was commented upon. Professor Reagan told the story of the Negro janitor who got along so well because, as he said, he always "went into neutral" in dealing with his white patrons. "Most Christian people like the Negro who goes into neutral," said Professor Reagan. He held that the Christian Church had at least a secondary responsibility for Hitler's activities and the growth of his philosophy and rare prejudice.

Emphasis was laid on the necessity for an understanding between capital and labor. They must learn to understand each other, said the speaker.

As to the imminence of another war, Professor Reagan said that "We can't have another war unless it is blessed by the church, adding, 'The church cannot stop it after it has started.'

One of the superstitions of the present day was seen to be the idea that the atomic bomb can be an instrument of peace.

Truck Owners May Request Action

Locals 807, 282 and 516 of the Brotherhood of Teamsters.

Affected mainly by the newly-established picket lines were firms with temporary contracts which had signed up two weeks ago on the understanding that the final terms would be those established by any general settlement later.

The employers' telegram was read by Joseph M. Adelz, chairman of their wage committee, at a mass meeting which voted to stand on the truck operators' original offer of a $3 a week raise, from $64 to $67.

Union leaders 10 days ago agreed to end the strike if employers would accept a plan advanced by the H. C. Bohack food stores calling for a weekly wage of $71.40 for 40 hours instead of $64 for a 44-hour work week.

Several hundred individual trucksters signed the "Bohack Formula" with the union in succeeding days, and leaders of the three striking unions reported that 65 per cent of the 15,000 strikers had returned to work.

But Adelz maintained that only 25 per cent of the local trucks were running.

McCann and her sister, Mrs. Thomas Maines pleased with vocal duets, and Mrs. Frederick Stein with solos. Edward Luedtke conducted a hilarious program of "Truth and Consequences."

A generous dinner, with very excellent ham as the feature, preceded the program of the evening.

Eggs Are Shipped

New York, Sept. 26 (AP)—Holland-American liner Westdam yesterday became the basis in which all those eggs are packed in its hold—the largest cargo of this type on one vessel departing in the postwar period. The eggs are destined for Switzerland.

Po'keepsie Opens War on Starlings

Several Hundred Killed, Several Thousand Are Persuaded to Leave

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Sept. 26. — Twenty-five Poughkeepsie "minute men," augmented by an equal number of auxiliaries and supported by the hearty approval of the neighbors, fired three bar-ages into the trees of an ordi-ly peaceful residential section at night and accounted for "sev-eral hundred" of the noisy "several thousand" of the noisy retired in confusion. The engagement was the first what Public Safety Commis-sioner Howard T. Wiggers said promised to be a lengthy cam-paign against starlings. It was planned and directed by the Dutchess County Federation of Game Clubs to eliminate the noisy birds which had been making life "unbearable" for householders of the area. Wiggers said he expected a re-peat engagement would be nec-essary, but added it would be a sur-prise attack—not to keep the starlings from preparing their de-fenses, but to prevent the gather-ing of such a big crowd of spec-tators. Blitzed Tree Watched There were 20 buds this year on a rose-tree which had bloss-omed for 1,000 years outside the of Hildesheim Cathedral, Ger-many, until it was damaged last year in an air raid, Berlin re-ports. Townspeople hope it will bloom next year. Australia's wool industry began in 1793 when 30 sheep arrived from Calcutta, and a few English sheep were brought from Ireland.

Kingston Residents Share in Estate

New York, Sept. 25 (Special).—Three Kingston residents share in the estate of the late Miss Mary Fitzgerald of New York, daughter of the late Francis and Alice Fitz Gerald, according to a report to-day of the State Transfer Tax Department here. The three are Mrs. Alice Kenyon, who receives $2,000, Helen Culliton, $2,000, and James Kenyon, $1,000. All are cousins. The bulk of the estate goes to Rosary Hill Home, Hawthorne and Mt. St. Francis, Peekskill. Miss Fitzgerald died January 2, 1945. She was buried in St. Mary's Cemetery, Kingston. Her estate was appraised today at $63,935, gross value, and $39,354, net. Recent figures from the shoe industry show a monthly produc-tion of 40,000,000 pairs, or slightly more than the prewar rate.

SHANDAKEN

Shandaken, Sept. 26.—Mr. and Mrs. Harry Miller and daughter of Roxbury visited friends here, Sunday. Henry Heick and son, Billy, re-turned home Sunday from a week's vacation in the Adiron-dacks. Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Cleaveland and John Brown called on Dr. and Mrs. Gross in Woodland Valley last Thursday. Pfc. Mason Gossbo of Fort Ben-ning, Ga., has been home for a furlough. When he returns he will be transferred to California. The teachers of the public school thank Amasa Herdman and Gordon Yerry for transporting the children to the dental program at Phoenixia last week. Mrs. George Rosa and Mrs. Percy Rosa gave a miscellaneous shower for Mrs. Kenneth Herdman Monday afternoon. Thirty guests were present and Mrs. Herdman received many nice gifts. There will be a "Market Fair" at the church hall Saturday after-noon, October 3, for the benefit of the Sunday school organ fund. Anyone having old or new articles to give is asked to leave them with Miss Esther Riseley. Miss Addie Jansen of Tenafly, N. J., called on Mrs. F. M. Cleave-land, Wednesday. The Rev. and Mrs. Paul Somer-ville have returned from their vacation trip to Iowa.

Former Wac Held On Charge She Murdered Veteran

Woman Is Arrested at Nevada Hotel; Man
Stabbed, Police
Say

Reno, Nev., Sept. 26 (AP)—A 30-year-old former Wac was held in the Washoe county jail today, charged with slaying William H. Appleton, 24-year-old navy veteran. Both formerly lived in Kingston, N. Y.

District Attorney Harold O. Taber filed a murder complaint against the woman—Mrs. Mary Drew—late yesterday and, after her arraignment before Justice of the Peace Harry Dunseath, her preliminary hearing was set for October 1.

Mrs. Drew was arrested at a Reno hotel early yesterday after Appleton, employed here as a truck driver, staggered from a room in a hotel, collapsed and died in a hallway.

Police Detective Gene Cowan said Appleton had been stabbed with a bayonet he had brought home from the Pacific as a war souvenir.

Cowan added he found Mrs. Drew fully clothed but in bed in the hotel room. The bayonet was found in a closet. He said blood from it had been wiped on the bedspread.

A clerk at the hotel said the couple had been registered there since July 10. He told the district attorney there was evidence the two had been drinking and that they had quarreled when they returned to the hotel late Tuesday night.

In Paterson, N. J., Elmer Drew, husband of Mrs. Drew, told newspapermen he would come to her aid here if she wanted him to do so.

"She's still my wife," Drew was quoted as saying. "I hate to think of the poor kid out there all alone."

The Drews have been married twice, he said. They first were wed in 1935 and were divorced in 1942. They re-married in 1944 in New York. They separated again four months ago, Drew said. He said he had not heard from her since she left.

Democrat Claims Labor Support for Autumn Ticket

New York, Sept. 26 (AP)—The Mead-Lehman ticket will be supported by "the vast majority of the rank and file members" of the American Federation of Labor in New York state at the forthcoming elections, Francis J. McElroy, Democratic state campaign manager, said last night.

He also told a news conference that the failure of the State Federation of Labor's Non-Partisan Committee to endorse Sen. James M. Mead, Democratic gubernatorial nominee, would "not cost them any votes."

The 25-man non-partisan committee said in Albany Tuesday that it would endorse neither Mead nor Gov. Thomas E. Dewey because, the committee said, both candidates have "excellent" labor records.

"I cannot understand how any organized labor members could hesitate in the selection of Mead over Dewey, and Lehman over (Irving M.) Ives," McElroy said in a statement. "It is well-known throughout labor circles that Senator Mead has been one of the staunchest friends of labor in the whole United States."

"The same is true of Governor Lehman," he continued. "Not only have they been friends of labor, but have actively worked for progressive labor laws in New York state and in Washington, for many years."

Robert F. Wagner, Jr., campaign chairman for the Citizens Committee for Mead, also said in a statement that the A.F.L. rank and file members in New York would "give their overwhelming support to, and thus insure the election of Jim Mead as governor."

Assuming his duties as chairman of the Veterans' Division of the Citizens Committee for Mead, Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., said that Mead's election would be for the veterans "the best assurance that they can gain the ends for which they fought."

He also charged Gov. Dewey with having failed "to produce for the veterans despite his brash claims."

Would Get Milk From Midwestern Farmers for N. Y.

Dairymen's League Head
Says Move Would Hit
Dairy Industry
in State

New York, Sept. 26 (AP)—Henry H. Rathbun, President of the Dairymen's League Cooperative Association, says any move to open the New York milkshed to midwestern farmers would "wreck the dairy industry in New York state."

A proposal for such action is included on the agenda of hearings called for Tuesday by the New York city board of health at the suggestion of Health Commissioner Israel Weinstein.

Weinstein told the board last Tuesday that northeastern markets were draining New York city's milkshed by bidding 30 to 60 cents more a hundredweight than New York dealers, and proposed Ohio, Indiana, Minnesota, Wisconsin, and Illinois as possible new sources of milk if the city's shortage continued.

In letters yesterday to Governor Thomas E. Dewey, Secretary of Agriculture Anderson, and Mayor William O'Dwyer, Rathbun recommended increasing the prices paid farmers in the New York milkshed rather than open the New York market to the midwestern dairymen.

Rathbun said his organization would ask the Metropolitan Cooperative Milk Producers' Bargaining Agency, Inc., to petition for a hearing to increase prices through an amendment to the federal-state milk marketing order so as to equalize New York prices with those of competitive northeastern markets.

The league represents 27,000 dairymen.

FISH SHOCKER FEARED

Australian fishermen have been warned by Melbourne scientists to be wary of a fish that looks like a shapeless piece of raw beef, for it is the numbfish, also called the crampfish, torpedo and electric ray. Fishermen can get a severe electric shock, for the fish captures its prey by paralyzing. The shock is delivered by the hexagonal muscle cells situated in both the head and body.

To Preach Here

REV. G. H. SCHROEDER

The Rev. Gordon H. Schroeder, B.D., director of evangelism of the Baptist State Convention, Syracuse, will begin his Home Visitation Evangelism Crusade in connection with the "Rally Day program" in the First Baptist Church, Sunday morning, September 29, at 10. He will preach at the morning worship service of the Baptist Church at 11 on the theme "Enthusiasm for Christ," and at 3 p. m. in the church parlors he will conduct a Home Visitation Conference for all religious leaders and laymen. He will speak at a union service in the Clinton Avenue Methodist Church at 7:30 on Sunday evening on the subject: "Christ the Great Stabilizer."

The Rev. Mr. Schroeder was born in Lorraine, Kansas. He was graduated from the Ottawa University, Ottawa, Kansas, in 1936 with an A.B. degree and from Eastern Baptist Theological Seminary, Philadelphia, Pa., in 1939 with the degree of B.D. He also holds the degree of Th.M. from Eastern Seminary, majoring in Christian education and the home. He was ordained to the Christian ministry in 1939 by the Camden Baptist Association in New Jersey. He has held pastorates in both New Jersey and New York. Since January 1, 1939 he has served very efficiently and effectively in his present position as Director of Evangelism on the staff of the Baptist Missionary Convention of the State of New York.

Oscar Is Dead

San Francisco, Sept. 26 (AP)—Oscar, the California Academy of Science's celebrated trained seal, has come to an untimely death. Immediately after an autopsy yesterday, academy officials issued a plea to Golden Gate Park visitors: "Don't toss pennies to the seals." The autopsy disclosed that Oscar's stomach contained three pounds 14 ounces of coins, including 514 pennies, 27 nickels, 8 dimes, a quarter, a Canadian penny, a street car token and an amusement token. Academy scientists said it was the pennies that proved fatal. They included a number of wartime coins made of zinc, from which Oscar's gastric processes generated a lethal dose of zinc chloride.

Dumm Will Hold Meeting to Discuss Extension Courses

Principal Clarence Dumm of Kingston High School announced today that a meeting will be held Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock in his office in the high school to discuss the proposed university extension course.

Mr. Dumm said that at the meeting a complete report will be made of the various contacts with the universities and the favorable recommendations which must be considered promptly.

All who are interested in the proposed extension course are urged by Mr. Dumm to attend the meeting.

In calling attention to the meeting Mr. Dumm said there has been considerable interest shown in connection with the subject of off-campus university courses that could be used on both post graduate and under graduate levels.

He said that the last meeting at the high school in this connection was very well attended, and a great many others have indicated their interest both by letter and telephone.

Since the last meeting contacts have been made with the various neighboring universities and some interesting responses and recommendations have been made.

SENSE OF VALUES MIXED

The following letter shows a point of view that causes needless distress to many: "Should I give up a dear friend because she is financially so much better off than I am? She takes me out to lunch and invites me to her house for meals. I can't afford to return all these kindnesses and yet I hate to think of losing her deliberately. Is there a way out?"

Don't get your sense of values so foolishly mixed. If she did not want to invite you, she wouldn't. Would she? There are hundreds of ways whereby you can repay your friend—by being an amusing, sympathetic, adaptable and charming companion. What in the world has money spending to do with friendship?

Stranger at Shower

Dear Mrs. Post: Having arrived recently in this country from England where "showers" are unknown, I had only a vague idea that these were gatherings where special friends of the bride surprised her with small but useful pre-wedding gifts. A friend of mine here invited me to a shower she was giving for a friend of hers who I had met several times. Thinking I was invited because the party would be a novelty to me, I went. I had imagined that I would be the only stranger present, but was amazed to find that the bride-to-be had to be introduced to almost half of the guests. Apparently one is invited to showers not because of one's friendship with the bride, but with the giver of the shower. To my mind this seems very strange. In England we would be embarrassed to be put under obligation for gifts from strangers. What is your opinion?

Answer: It is very strange to me, too. Among the hundreds of showers that have been described to me, this is the first time that I ever have heard of strangers being invited. The typical American shower includes only the bride's own intimate friends.

Black Stockings

Dear Mrs. Post: Are sheer black stockings permissible for one in mourning?

Answer: They are mourning.

What hour is most suitable for a shower? Send for Mrs. Post's leaflet "Let's Give a Shower," in care of The Kingston Daily Freeman, Post Office Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y. and enclose a three-cent stamped, self-addressed envelope. (Released by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Windsor Plans Trip

Paris, Sept. 26 (AP)—The Duke of Windsor is planning to take his duchess to England next month for the first time since he renounced his throne to marry her 10 years ago, his secretary disclosed today. The secretary said she did not know whether Edward and the American-born former Wally Simpson had any plans to stay in Britain permanently, whether they would stay at Fort Belvedere, the duke's former home in England, during their visit. "We've just arrived from the Riviera and nothing has been decided," the secretary said.

Convention Is Opened

Philadelphia, Sept. 26 (AP)—The National Federation of Women's Republican Clubs opened its two-day biennial convention today with G.O.P. leaders confident of victory in the November elections. Carroll Reece, chairman of the Republican National Committee, foresaw a nationwide swing to the Republican party because of present "controls" confusion and corruption within Democratic ranks.

Burke Expects Acid Test Saturday; Clintons Play Beacon Sunday

Preps Maroon '11' For Highland Tilt In Stadium Drills

New K.H.S. Mentor Works With Varsity Despite Bad Cold; Joe Carroll Out With Grip

The acid test for Kingston High School's 1946 football team will be met Saturday afternoon at Highland, Coach Willard Burke intimated Wednesday afternoon while talking to a Freeman writer during a regular practice session of his Maroon and White charges.

Burke, who piloted the Highland team for 13 years before coming to Kingston to take over the head coaching duties for the Maroon, is all business in making preparations for this important game. "Highland has another strong team this year," Burke said yesterday and "we'll have to be plenty tough to stop that outfit."

"I've received some reports on the strength of the Highland eleven," Kingston's new coach declared. "Arlington High and the Christian Brothers Academy teams have scrimmaged against Highland and both schools report that Highland is rough this year."

"We have a big job on our hands. Our victory over Haverstraw gave us a good start but our ultimate strength won't be known until after the battle with Highland."

Coach Frank LaFolce, a former pupil under Burke is the mentor of Highland's eleven this year and he has a sturdy backfield packed with power operating behind a good defensive forward wall which promises anything but enjoyable fall afternoons for the coming season. Most of Highland's backs are small but every one is dynamite. The number one player in the secondary is Bill McCarthy, who is expected to do most of the ball-toting Saturday afternoon.

Team Not Rugged Yet
Coach Burke, who directed his squad through another long drill Wednesday despite a bad cold, told the Freeman representative early in the afternoon that his team "isn't rugged enough yet. The boys still have a lot to learn, especially in the blocking department. I'm not satisfied with that at all."

The new Maroon coach attended Wednesday's drill despite warnings by his own personal physician that he should be in bed treating his attack of grip. "I promised the doctor to leave early today before our scrimmage starts," Burke said. At 5:30 yesterday the new Maroon drill sergeant was still giving his boys a close going over at the stadium.

Titus Is Okay
Dee Titus, quarterback, who played a bang-up game for Kingston last Friday night before going out with a foot injury, is back at practice and in good shape. His arch was shaken up a bit when he recovered a Haverstraw fumble but before that he was one of the main cogs in Kingston's opening triumph.

Kingston's only other ailing player at the present time is Joe Carroll, the 180-pound guard, who has been unable to drill this week due to an attack of the grip. Carroll was at yesterday's workout in civvies and followed every play around the field.

Before Burke put his varsity eleven into scrimmage against Coach Russ Cunningham's second stringers yesterday the Maroon head boss supervised another long aerial drill, which had Dee Titus chucking all the ways to the end and back. A new face appeared on the receiving line yesterday when Bob Ghear, the strapping youngster from High Falls, took his place with the Maroon ends. Burke is presently toying with the idea of working Ghear into one of the end slots in order to shift Big Ed Weaver to tackle. "Ghear

HEAD FIRST FOR THIRD

Eddie Stanky, Brooklyn second baseman, slides head first toward third base and is called safe in the first inning of the Dodgers-Phillies game in Ebbets Field, New York. Stanky moved to third on teammate Cookie Lavagetto's single to right center. Jimmy Tabor, Phillies third baseman, waits for the throw-in from the outfield as Umpire Lee Ballanfant races in to call the play. The Phillies won, 11 to 9.

Ex-Colgate Player Is Named To Coach K. A. A. Grid Team

KHS '11' History

By IRWIN J. THOMAS

(This is the seventh in a series of articles presenting an overall summary of past records made by Kingston High School football teams from 1915 up to the present day.)

Coach K. Warren Kias' second year as pilot of Kingston High School's football team failed to reach the same peak, as 1927, for the 1928 gridder wound up a poor year with two victories in eight starts. The Kiasmen dropped five encounters and played a tie game in the other. In some quarters, however, the season was viewed with partial success, particularly after the poor showings of the teams of 1925 and 1926.

Kingston started the 1928 campaign by dropping a 6 to 0 decision to Morris High and then came back to register a 19-0 triumph over Raymond Rioridan. After a 6-0 setback at the hands of Poughkeepsie, the local hopefuls played Middletown to a 6-6 tie. Port Jervis thumped the Maroons, 12-2 but Kingston rebounded with a 12-0 victory over Peekskill. The season wound up none too graciously with successive blankings by Newburgh Kingston tallied 39 points during the year while its opponents collected 48.

Jones Was Captain
Phil Jones captained the 1928 squad which also included such well-known stars of other years as Bill Merrill, Al Lynch, Don Meagher, Herbie Clarke, John Fisher, Johnny Mohr, Gordon Watts, Frank Thompson, Phil MacDonald, Johnny Shields, Myron Gaddis, Eddie Minasian, Bill Scully and Hank Brigham.

Best Since 1923
The season of 1929 blossomed forth with plenty of potentialities in the Kingston lineup. After a schedule of seven ball games Kingston presented its best record since 1923 by enjoying a record of six wins and only one loss.

The Maroons scored 114 points has the build and other capabilities. "The rest is up to him."

Middles Next Week
Following the Highland clash Saturday, Kingston will play hosts to Middletown at municipal stadium next Friday night, October 4, in the first DUSO League encounter of the 1946 season.

Mallan, Former Center of Red Raiders, Takes Over Tonight in Drill at Stadium

A spokesman for the Kingston Athletic Association football team today announced that Tom Mallan, former Colgate University player, would handle the coaching position for tonight's practice in preparation for Saturday's game with the Walden Tigers under the arclights at the municipal stadium.

Choosing to remain unidentified, "The Voice" of the K.A.A., who said he had the green light from directors of the organization, told the press that Mallan would replace Weldon McCluskey—and remain with the club for the rest of the season.

McCluskey, physical director of the Poughkeepsie Y.M.C.A., directed practice for the K.A.A. previous to the club's 19-2 victory at Port Jervis Sunday afternoon, but was not present at Tuesday night's workout.

When Manager Larry Glennon was queried on the shift in coaches, he suggested that the directors did say, however, "I've been told that a new coach has been engaged, and will take over the reins tonight."

The workout to prep for Saturday night's match with Walden is scheduled to get under way at 8 o'clock tonight in the stadium. "This will give our boys a chance to familiarize themselves with lighting conditions and other factors pertaining to our clash with the Red Raiders," Glennon said. Saturday night's game is slated for 8:15 o'clock.

In answer to questions about Mallan's football experience Glennon told a reporter that "his recommendation to me from directors of the K.A.A. shows that he played center for Colgate University three years, was assistant coach at Manlius Prep, and that he played with the 90th Division in the E.T.O. during the war. He also has played semi-pro ball."

Mallan is living in Saugerties where he is employed as assistant manager of the Garland Laundry. It is understood that Mallan is a cousin of Joe Garland, K.A.A. center, and has been interested in the football team since its organization. He has made helpful suggestions from time to time, according to several Kingston gridder, pertaining especially to offensive play. Mallan was in the huddle with Kingston during the half at the Port Jervis game.

Manager Glennon urges all his men to report on time for tonight's practice.

Bettina Defeats Eldridge Eatman
Beacon Boxer, Former Champ, Wins Handily

Norwalk, Conn., Sept. 26 (AP)—Melin Bettina, 188, Beacon, N. Y., former world light heavyweight champion, retained enough of his skill to give Eldridge Eatman, 195, Norwalk, a decisive triumph by beating 3,000 fans at the Crystal Gardens here last night.

Bettina won every round but the sixth, according to Referee Johnny Clarke's score card. Eatman, one of Joe Louis' sparring partners before the heavy-weight champion's recent bout with Tami Mauriello, took the sixth when he opened a cut over Bettina's right eye which bled profusely. The former champ had to go on the defense until his seconds could repair the damage during the rest period.

Cluney scored it nine rounds and 48 points for Bettina, one round and 24 points for Eatman. Baby Beau, protégé of Beau Jack, hailing from Augusta, Ga., knocked out Tony Pignatone of Norwalk in the first round of a semi-final scheduled for six. Beau weighed 142, Pignatone 140.

Yesterday's Stars
(By The Associated Press)
Bucky Walters, Reds—Blanked the Cardinals with seven hits in pitching a 6-0 victory.

SCOREBOARD

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer
It is doubtful today if any major league baseball manager ever bowed out with more satisfaction than William B. (Wilkinsburg) McKee, erstwhile boss of the Cincinnati Reds.

McKee managed his last game for the Reds last night. He was "fired" three days ago. His final act as the Redleg boss was a mastermind his hirelings to a 6-0 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals—an act which might cause the Brooklyn Dodgers—a team Bill admits he dislikes—to nose out the club he formerly managed for the National League flag.

McKee knew full well that the Dodgers, who earlier in the season he had accused of "dirty playing" against his Reds, had lost, 11-9, to the Philadelphia Phillies. A St. Louis victory would just about seal Brooklyn's pennant hopes as it would give the Cards a two-game advantage with only three games left.

He nominated Bucky Walters, always a tough cookie for the Cards, to pitch. Walters pitched one of the finest games of the season to blank the Birds with seven hits. Twice McKee signaled for sacrifices and each time it paid off. In the ninth, even though the Reds owned a 3-0 lead, he ordered Bobby Adams to bunt Ed Lukon to second so that a single would give Cincinnati an insurance run. He ordered Bob Usher, a fast man to run for Lukon and, sure enough, Bert Haas came through with a single to score Usher.

The defeat left the Cards still one game ahead of the Dodgers. Brooklyn, showing signs of cracking under the terrific strain of chasing the Cardinals, blew a three-run lead in the ninth when the Phils came up with five runs to win their 11-9 thriller. Altogether the Dodgers used eight pitchers to set a new league record.

Scoring five runs in the first inning, the Boston Braves deadlocked the Cubs for third place by defeating the New York Giants 6-5. The Cubs lost a 16-inning game to Pittsburgh by the same score when Billy Cox singled in Lee Handley. Ralph Kiner took over the National League home run leadership with his 23rd home run. Bobby Feller fanned 10 to boost his season's strikeout total to 337, only six short of Rube Waddell's listed record. However, Feller, once again received poor hitting support from his mates and dropped a 4-1 decision to Joe Haynes and the Chicago White Sox.

Despite Hank Greenberg's 42nd home run, the Detroit Tigers were beaten by the St. Louis Browns, 8-7, as the Browns' Vern Stephens clouted a homer and two singles. Joe Dobson pitched the American League champion Boston Red Sox to their 103rd victory with a five-inning 5-2 win over the New York Yankees.

The Athletics executed a triple play but lost a doubleheader to Washington 6-3 and 7-4 with Roger Wolf and Dutch Leonard receiving credit for the victories.

One Practice Tilt Scheduled Tonight For Y.M.C.A. Court

Three Pre-Loop Games Are Slated Next Tuesday; Hustlers, Shamrocks Play This Evening

Only one practice game is on tap for the Y. M. C. A. gym this evening instead of the three contests listed in Wednesday's Freeman. The one game tonight will bring together the Hustlers and Shamrocks at 7 o'clock.

A triple-header practice slate for teams in the City Autumn Basketball League is scheduled for Tuesday night, October 1, when the following clubs will see action:

7 p. m.
Madden's Aces vs. Barnes.
8 p. m.
Marines vs. V. F. W.
9 p. m.
Potter Brothers vs. Swamp Lilies.
Next DuBois, representative of the A.F.W. cage team, requests all members of that organization to attend the first workout of the team next Tuesday night at 8 o'clock. Players are requested to bring their own equipment.

Zale and Graziano To Fight Tomorrow

New York, Sept. 26 (AP)—Making his initial defense of his middleweight title since leaving the service, Tony Zale was ready today to swap punches with Rocky Graziano of New York in a scheduled 15-round go at Yankee Stadium tomorrow night.

It marks the first time in 20 years that a defending middleweight champion enters the ring with a clear-cut, undisputed title claim. Ever since Mackay Walker's reign, there has been disagreement over the rightful titleholder until Zale defeated George Abrams in 1941. Mike Jacobs, the twentieth century boxing club impresario, expects a crowd of 40,000 to produce a $400,000 fight, which would exceed the Joe Louis-Tami Mauriello receipts of last week.

Barnes Nominated To Pitch Final Playoff Contest

Clinton Players Will Meet at Central Post Office Sunday Noon for Trip to Beacon Field

With Artie Barnes definitely slated to do the hurling, the Gov. Clinton Market baseball team will close the books on the Mid-Hudson League Sunday afternoon when it travels down the river to engage the Beacon Recreation in the second and final game of the post-season Shaughnessy playoffs.

Team Leaves at Noon
This morning Manager Paul Misove of the Clintons announced that all of the local players are asked to meet at the Central Post Office at 12 o'clock noon Sunday for the trip to Beacon.

The Gov. Clintons, champions of the regular Mid-Hudson Baseball League season, worked its way into the final playoff game Sunday, September 15, by trimming the Poughkeepsie Bar-B-Que team 5 to 2 behind Art Barnes. At the same time Beacon scored a big 5 to 4 upset victory over the strong Newburgh Grandstand Tavern team.

"I expect to have the same lineup in action for this final tilt Sunday afternoon," Manager Misove stated this morning. "The club is anxious to play this final loop engagement and I'm confident that we can defeat Beacon with Barnes doing the hurling."

The Gov. Clinton pilot was high in praise for Barnes' pitching efforts throughout the entire season this morning. "Art has come along nicely for us," Paul said, "and Sunday's contest should add to his laurels on the pitching mound."

Opposing Barnes Sunday will be Jimmy Pomarico who turned back Newburgh in the other playoff game a few weeks ago. Pomarico limited the Hilly City clubbers to but six hits in the nine inning stint and showed plenty of power in the closing innings.

Manager Misove is expected to open Sunday's contest with Jack "Daisy" Schatzel at first, Eddie Minasian, second; Andy Celuch, third; and Jimmy Secreto at short. The Clintons outfield will have Mac Tiano, Charlie Neff and either Earl "Red" Sleight or the popular manager himself, George Zandany will do the catching.

Celuch Big Asset
While going over his tentative lineup this morning Manager Misove also was quoted as saying that Andy Celuch, the Clinton third sacker, "Andy has been a great asset to our team since he joined us. His play at third on the defense has been outstanding while his hitting power has been the difference of defeat and victory."

Beacon is expected to open with Antalek, first; Andy Pomarico, second; Lacey, third and Pesaceto, short, while the fly-chasing brigade will be composed of Fredricks, T. Antalek and Bob Devine. Sheal will do the catching for Pomarico.

Danbury Fair Opens 76th Year on Sunday

With the change in time taking effect this Sunday, September 29, the opening day of the Danbury Fair, those who plan to attend the fair's inaugural had best remember to turn their clocks back to Eastern Standard Time from Daylight Saving Time, especially if they have to get an early start from distant points.

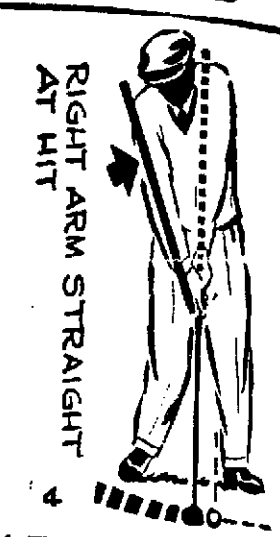

The fair gates will open promptly at 9 a. m., and opening day will see one of the outstanding attractions being presented, with a card of midget auto races featuring the nation's top-flight speed kings.

The speed program will get underway at 2 p. m., with several star acts preceding the first competitive race event. Among the acts will be the Beronini Troupe, royal family of the high wire. Three attractive girls and two men perform daring stunts on the highest rigging ever used by an act of this kind. No safety devices, including nets, are used.

There will be band concerts by Joe Biles' band from 9 a. m. until 12 noon. Square dances will be featured at 8 p. m.

This year's fair, marking its 76th year, it is predicted will surpass anything ever offered in the past at this historical fairgrounds.

Better Golf By SAM SNEAD

4. The dotted line in today's picture is to emphasize that at impact, your left shoulder is moving up, your right shoulder is moving down and your left arm and club shaft form a straight line to the ball. At the same time, your left hip is thrusting upward which gives you weight behind the ball. This is the way to get leverage in your shot smoothly. In the position pictured, the wrist-throw is completed, which means that the power the wrist-throw adds to the swing delivers the maximum force to the ball. Now, imagine that with your body in the position pictured, your hands had already started cocking upward toward the green then you see them here and you'll see why it is obvious that if you start your hand-lash or wrist-throw, call it what you will, too soon the clubhead is expended in the air before clubhead reaches ball. That costs you yardage and it will probably mean that you will miss "top" your shot or shoot it off-line to the left. Study the picture again. Strive for results in the way shown.

Telephone Union To Take Action At Special Parley

Washington, Sept. 26 (AP)—Plans are being perfected today to scrap the National Federation of Telephone Workers (N.F.T.W.) and replace it with a tight national union of unprecedented scope within the nation's communications industry.

Final action on the proposal will be taken at a special N.F.T.W. convention in Denver November 4 to 16. The new organization probably will be known as the Communications Workers of America.

The N.F.T.W., a federation of 47 independent unions which claim a combined membership of 230,000 workers in various branches of the telephone industry, authorized the change-over in principle last June. That convention also decided joining either the A.F.L. or the C.I.O.

N.F.T.W. President Joseph A. Beirne said today the task of "capturing the language" by which the conversion to a national union is to be accomplished has been delegated to committees. These have virtually completed their work, he added in an interview.

The Denver convention will be limited to two main topics: The constitution for the new union.

The scope of "national level" bargaining with employers—principally the American Telephone and Telegraph Company.

For example, Beirne said, the 250 delegates to the special convention must decide which of 23 issues they want bargained on a national scale. These include such things as wages, the union shop, pensions, vacations, premium pay for Saturday and Sunday work, night differentials and compensation for time spent in handling grievances.

At present the various unions in the federation do their own bargaining. N.F.T.W. officers make policy but do not carry it out.

Under the proposed new organization, the 47 affiliates would lose their autonomy and be absorbed in a single union.

Beirne acknowledged that the proposed new union would hold tremendous power in such a strategic industry as communications and that, in practice, most of the union authority would fall to the president.

Campaign Is Launched

Washington, Sept. 26 (AP)—A nationwide campaign for building without delay a 40,000-mile system of "dream" highways authorized by Congress in 1944 was launched today at the inaugural session of the National Highway Transportation Congress. The project calls for developing in 20 years a vast network of super highways stretching from coast to coast and from border to border. It is expected to involve expenditure of more than $12,000,000,000, which has yet to be provided.

Nehru Says Policy Includes Withdrawal

New Delhi, Sept. 26 (AP)—Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru, leading minister in India's new interim government, said today his foreign policy included withdrawal of Indian troops from foreign soil—such as Indonesia—to "uphold the principle of freedom for dependent and colonial peoples."

Nehru told a news conference that the new government's foreign policy would be conducted independently of the British Foreign Office insofar as possible, with notifications sent to London after decisions have been made.

Implementation of the new foreign policy will begin soon, he said, with the sending of an informal good will mission to the Middle East and informal contacts on the matter of exchanging representatives with countries of western and eastern Europe.

Questioned specifically about Russia, Nehru said: "We should like the same type of relations with Russia" as with the United States and China. He did not elaborate.

Report Is Received

New York, Sept. 26 (AP)—The Coast Guard said today it had received a report of an S.O.S. from an unidentified ship in distress about 400 miles east-southeast of Bermuda. No additional details on the ship or its plight were available, the Coast Guard said. N.B.C. said Radiomarine Corporation also had picked up the distress signal at its Chatham, Mass., station. The ship's latitude was given at 29.56 north and longitude 51.58 west.

It has been estimated that a swarm of bees, when it leaves the mother hive, constitutes from 1,000 to 6,000 bees.

Greeks Prepared To Welcome King Despite Civil Strife

By L. S. CHAKALES

Athens, Sept. 26 (AP)—The Greek government completed today its plans for welcoming King George II back to his throne despite fierce border fighting and civil strife in Northern Greece which Premier Constantin Tsaldaris says has reached the magnitude of war.

Athens will close down completely Saturday morning for the King's reception and police announced that all permits for carrying arms had been suspended.

Police said persons lining the route of the parade marking the monarch's return to Greece after five years of exile would not be permitted to circulate and that any person was liable to search.

All persons were forbidden to watch the parade from rooftops or terraces for a depth of about 100 yards from the route of march, which will begin at Faleron Bay and continue to the Greek Cathedral in the heart of Athens.

The King was to arrive at an airport on the Peloponnese and then board a destroyer for the journey to Piraeus, the port of Athens.

(In London, a source close to the King, summoned home by a recent plebiscite, said the monarch's return was expected to stabilize the tense situation in Greece. He was expected to depart for Greece either today or tomorrow.)

Greek army corps, meanwhile, were conducting military operations to put down the rebellious opposition in Thessaly and Macedonia, the major trouble spots, but although an estimated 30,000 British troops were dispersed in those areas there was no indication that they were involved in the fighting.

Force as 'Last Resort'

Informed British sources in Athens said the British forces were being reorganized, and that one of the two divisions in the region was being withdrawn from Greece. The headquarters of Maj. Gen. Kenneth Hoel Crawford, commander of British troops in Greece, declined comment on a statement by a British Foreign Office spokesman that the British forces would be used "in the last resort."

Tsaldaris yesterday blamed "foreign influences" for the fighting in Greece, commenting that the disorders were "for the benefit of those who aim to take advantage of our troubles with a view of securing an outlet in the Aegean." The Press Ministry said some of the 178 prisoners taken when

Army Takes 4th Of Meat Supplies

Forces Have Only Enough for Month; Would Punish Violators

Washington, Sept. 26 (AP)—The army slapped a claim today on a fourth of all meat turned out by federally-inspected slaughterers as the pre-election storm over bare butcher counters mounted in intensity.

With the administration already split over the issue of keeping price lids on the rapidly vanishing commodity, top Democratic party chiefs assembled here for a huddle that appeared certain to take note of the whole situation.

The congressional elections are just 40 days off.

But the army showed no disposition to await possible action by any other branch of the government.

Reporting that its "visible supply of meat is less than a month's requirement," the army last night served priority papers on all packers operating under federal inspection ordering them to set aside 25 per cent of their total output for the armed services, the War Shipping Administration and veterans' hospitals.

While reminding that "punitive action" awaits those who violate the set-aside orders, the army announcement left unanswered whether its goal of 60,000,000 pounds of meat a month could be achieved.

"Meat slaughter is descending to the vanishing point," it declared.

A political storm broke in earnest yesterday after House Democratic Leader McCormack of Massachusetts demanded in a telegram to Price Chief Paul Porter that O.P.A. suspend control over meat and other scarce food products so "our hospitals and our citizens" can have enough to eat.

"Cheap Politics" Charged
Republican National Chairman Carroll Reece, branding McCormack's action as "cheap politics," noted in a statement that the 60-day period proposed would carry the suspension just past the November 5 elections.

Declaring the Massachusetts Democrat is trying "to kid the voters," Reece added that if the administration "had listened to Republican advice during the last session of Congress such chicanery as Mr. McCormack now propose would be unnecessary."

Reece called the control system "unworkable."
McCormack was a prime batter for the administration during the long House fight over extending, and then reviving, O.P.A.

Since then administration emphasis has been on the necessity of keeping controls over food and other scarce items.

Secretary of Agriculture Clinton P. Anderson, who in a radio speech from Albuquerque Tuesday night said he considered present price ceilings high enough to give farmers a fair return on their meat, promised in a statement last night that he will act promptly on any formal petition to remove controls.

"But," he added, "if one of the requirements for decontrol is a showing that the commodity is not in short supply, such a finding might be difficult to justify, as the present outcry for more meat would indicate."

Under the price control law, only O.P.A. advisory committee may petition for decontrol—a step now being arranged by Chairman Roscoe I. Haynie of the beef industry committee.

Taking note of McCormack's call for a 60-day suspension of ceilings, Haynie told a reporter such action "would not bring orderly marketing or production."

"The only solution to the present meat shortages," he added, "is complete and permanent decontrol."

On Capitol Hill, Senator O'Daniel (D-Tex.), long a bitter foe of O.P.A., agreed with Haynie, telling a reporter: "I don't think controls should be suspended for 60 or 90 days or any other length of time. They should be abolished."

"The only reason these New Dealers want them suspended for 60 days is to get by the elections," O'Daniel continued. "I prefer that these New Dealers go hungry and get defeated."

Senator Ferguson (R-Mich.) also said he favored an indefinite suspension, adding: "If a situation developed making restoration of controls advisable, it could be done. But it would invite speculation to announce in advance that decontrol would last for only some specific time."

Despite the army's requisitioning order, there appeared to be no official disposition here to heed the advice of two New England governors:

Maurice J. Tobin (D.) of Massachusetts who called for federal seizure of slaughtering plants and steps to buy hogs and cattle.

Raymond E. Baldwin (R.) of Connecticut who urged that special slaughtering quotas be set for institutions such as hospitals and that meat from government sources be made available to them.

In explaining the reasons for its action, the army said that in order to keep its pipeline over-

W.A.A. Suspends Walton Bostwick

Says He Authored Document for Sale of Trucks

Washington, Sept. 26 (AP)—Congressional investigators probed deeper today into the "document mystery" as the War Assets Administration suspended an official who acknowledged he wrote the memorandum that caused the furor.

Walton Bostwick, assistant price chief of W.A.A.'s electronics section, told the House committee investigating surplus property disposal that he authored the document. He added in effect he thought the committee was making a mountain of a mole hill.

The memorandum, which investigators said turned up mysteriously in W.A.A. files, recorded an "authorization" of a $4,500 price for each of 200 or more radio trucks, although the price previously had been put at $7,500 each.

Moreover, the authorization was written in April while the sale occurred in the fall of 1945. The Halliester Corp. of Chicago was the government's agent in the transaction.

The "mystery," that has puzzled the committee for days, began to crack yesterday when a former W.A.A. stenographer told the lawmakers that it was dictated by Bostwick in April and he ordered her to date it as of December 18, 1945.

Bostwick, called to the stand, said he merely "filled a gap in the files" and regarded this as a routine matter until he began to read about it in the newspapers this week.

He said one of his superiors told him to find out how the $4,500 price was reached, but "I am hazy on who told me to do it." The committee set out today to determine if any higher official had an interest in the "mystery document."

In Greece there is a ready-made opportunity for Joseph Stalin to support with action his declaration that he believes unconditionally in "the possibility of a friendly and lasting collaboration of the Soviet Union and western democracy despite the existence of ideological discord."

There the worldwide conflict between east and west has reached its most dangerous stage; all accounts show that large scale civil war is raging.

In London a Greek embassy spokesman characterizes the fighting as "an invasion by subversive elements from Albania and Yugoslavia with the connivance of the two governments." The British government lends support to this view.

There is no charge that the Soviet government is directly responsible for this tragic situation. The Soviet government doubtless would point out that Yugoslavia and Albania are independent nations; the Tito and Hoxha regimes disclaim any responsibility for the turmoil along Greece's northern frontiers. But the fact remains that outside Russia and the Russian zone of domination—which includes Yugoslavia and Albania—the belief is almost general that the word from the Kremlin could alter the direction of the developments that point toward ever spreading conflict.

The Russians have been beaten in two efforts in the United Nations Security Council to pin the blame for this situation on Greece, and the British forces still in the country.

out. In the course of this conflict Gromyko killed, by his veto, an American proposal, which had the backing of the overwhelming majority of the council, for an investigation of the whole Greek border situation.

The need for such an impartial study seems to most observers to be pressing; only by some such measure can the world get an ordered account out of the conflicting charges and counter-charges that come from Athens, Belgrade, Tirana and Moscow.

Trygve Lie, secretary general of the United Nations, has declared that he will undertake such a study on his own responsibility.

The Greek premier, Constantinos Tsaldaris, speaking yesterday in Salonika, declared that Greece would welcome such a neutral and objective investigation.

"Foreign influences," he said, have tended "to perpetuate disorder and a continuation of darkness. x x x they succeeded the other day at the Security Council x x x in achieving their darkness, which is shrouding their intentions and their aims." Tsaldaris declared that the whole world "can see what we are doing x x x we do not want to hide anything from anyone."

The accounts of the civil strife which come from Athens probably do not tell the whole story; they emphasize the role of the native Leftist extremists and their alleged confederates across the border in bringing Greece to this pass. But the fact remains that the Greeks and the British—and the American government, too—would welcome an unbiased investigation, while the Russian bloc would not.

Meanwhile the imminent return of King George II to Athens promises to bring the crisis to a new pitch of intensity and peril of the peace.

Police Hunt Two Vermont Youths Who Made Escape

The sheriff's office and state police have been alerted to be on the lookout for two Vermont youths who escaped from Connecticut state police about 10 days ago near Rochester.

The youths are brothers and were last traced to Jeffersonville, N. Y., where they stole a 1937 Chevrolet sedan bearing registration plates SC 13-63. The youths are brothers, Austin Findley, 21, who stands 5 feet 6 inches and weighs 135 pounds, has red hair, freckles and a prominent Adam's apple; and Bernard Findley, 17, about 5 feet 7 inches, 120 pounds, with brown or black hair.

Upstate police said the boys steal cars, gasoline, registration plates, car radios and will break into garages and gas stations. They are known to have broken into milk houses to steal milk. The pair escaped from Connecticut police who were taking them to Hartford where they are wanted on burglary charges. They reside in Vermont and are believed headed in that direction.

SHERWIN-WILLIAMS FINDS SURE-KILL WAY TO USE DDT
IT'S PESTROY DDT LIQUID COATING
(Destroys Pests)
KILLS:
flies, ants, mosquitoes, roaches, crickets, moths, bedbugs, wasps, silverfish, gnats, beetles, fleas, lice, many other insects.
BRUSH ON
screens, around doorways, window sills, plumbing, garbage cans, drains, basements, many other surfaces.
Here's how PESTROY DDT kills and keeps on killing!
After application, PESTROY DDT particles rise to top of coating, form crystalline film. This DDT film kills insects that touch it. DDT is absorbed through nerves in the bug's feet, causes paralysis, sure death. And PESTROY keeps killing, day after day. A new type of synthetic resin binds PESTROY to any surface, keeps the DDT from brushing off, blowing away.
PESTROY 10% DDT ACTIVATED POWDER
Special chemicals in PESTROY DDT powder drive bugs from hiding places to certain death. Handy Press-cap container whisks PESTROY into cracks, crevices, under carpets, etc.
